Gunners, Pilots Smash Tokyo's GuadalcanalRaid

Soldiers, Marines Land on Island; Gunners, Pilots Protect Big Expedition

Losses Are Heavy

Japs Lose 16 Torpedo Planes, Five Zeros, 11 Others

By J. NORMAN LODGE

Guadalcanal, Nov. 12 (Delayed) (AP)—Tojo's dragonflies took a terrific beating today attempting to raid the harbor waters between Guadalcanal and Little Florida Island where reinforcements of American soldiers and Marines were being landed along with huge supplies of food, ammunition and other necessities.

Unlike the Armistice Day hit-run raid in which our losses were about half the invaders', today saw a force of torpedo planes protected by Zeros come across the mountains, over Henderson Field and toward the channel to attack the landing operations.

Anti-aircraft fire opened up on land and sea, the fighter planes circled for altitude, land-based heavy cannon ripped holes in the cloud-filled sky, and when it was all over here was the boxscore every American can be proud of:

Japanese losses—16 two-engined torpedo planes and five Zeros shot down by fighters and 11 additional planes by anti-aircraft and ship-based fire.

American losses—four planes, and one pilot is known to be safe.

That is par for any course.

Nary a one of the unloading ships was struck, not one of the unloading barges was hit and nobody among the huge landing party was injured.

The action was delightful to witness. The alert was given shortly after 2 p. m., suddenly shore gunners shouted "there they go" and put up a terrific barrage.

Torpedo planes, barely skimming the top of the water, swooped in from the east. The sky was black with these and small clouds of anti-aircraft smoke interspersed with red tracers.

From a low-flying formation a two-engined job nosed right down into the sea and the sergeant gunner reached across the cannon and marked one white chalk stripe.

In quick succession five others followed the original nip into the ocean, flared up and then disappeared beneath the calm waters.

Water-based naval craft were throwing up everything they had. By now individual anti-aircraft puffs had merged, forming a huge thunderhead of bursting steel raining into the sky.

One torpedo plane fell into the sea close by a transport ship. The pilot, his left leg hanging in shreds, floated past the starboard beam in his kapok jacket. He was fished out with boat hooks and taken ashore and buried. That's more than the Japs do with our boys under like conditions, which fortunately are not often.

The Zeros, supposedly a protection umbrella for the torpedo-planes, remained at a high altitude. Our planes which had been circling for altitude suddenly darted into the formation, and quick as the eye could spot them five Zeros became just that.

The raid was over within 20 minutes, but as the rumble of anti-aircraft fire died, huge clouds of green-black smoke were seen on the horizon, denoting the last raid two other dragon flies will ever make.

The land situation on Guadalcanal remained unchanged.

Madame Chiang Is Back in America

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP).—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, famed first lady of China's fighting millions, is back today in America—the land of her school days.

This time it was the after-effects of an accident on one of her daring trips to the Sino-Japanese battlefront that brought the wife of China's generalissimo to the United States. When or how she arrived was not disclosed.

But there was immediate speculation that her trip might also spell new anti-Japanese strategy as well as cement more firmly the fighting efforts of the two allied nations.

U. S. Airmen Fire Big Dock Area

Action in China Is Taken Against Jap Positions at Various Places

By J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN

With American forces in China, Nov. 25 (Delayed) (AP)—American airmen making their first night dive-bombing assault on the Japanese in China set the Yangtze dock area aflame at Hankow and scored hits on a gunboat and big river steamer early today.

Medium bombers followed up this raid by a few hours with punishing attacks on Japanese military concentrations at Yochow and Sienning in the Yangtze bend southwest of Hankow on the Hupen-Hunan border. Here great damage was inflicted and many Japanese were believed killed.

These destructive forays into the enemy's central China made a total of 8 attacks, within 77 hours upon the enemy from Hankow to Haiphong, in Indo-China hundreds of miles to the south.

All of the raiders returned today, although some had been shot up by anti-aircraft fire.

The daylight raids on Yochow and Sienning were aimed at frustrating an anticipated Japanese offensive toward Changsha, where three previous enemy expeditions have met with overwhelming disaster.

With these assaults, in which 550-pound bombs were used, the American aerial offensive since Sunday has loosed more than 1,000 bombs totalling 58 tons on the enemy in China.

Not one Japanese fighter challenged the raiders over Sienning and Yochow, both important supply bases. The former is on the mouth of Poyang Lake southwest of Hankow and the latter is 35 miles to the south on the Canton-Hankow railway.

Leading the daylight raiders were Col. Herbert Morgan of Freedom, Pa., in command of the formations of B-25 Billy Mitchells, and Col. Robert L. Scott, Macon, Ga., commander of the fighter escort.

"The air was so full of stuff it looked like Chinese New Years Day over Hankow," said Maj, John Alison, Gainsville, Fla., who was in charge of the dive-bomber attack there.

"Most of our planes were shot up," he said. "Night fighters were up and I never before was under such heavy anti-aircraft and automatic fire. But we bombed and strafed until our ammunition gave out and when we left numerous fires dotted the waterfront."

Four Japanese searchlight batteries swept the moonlight sky as the raid started but only one was left when it was over.

Capt. Albert Baumler, Trenton, N. J., first ace of the China air task force, found himself floating along with a formation of enemy night fighters for about 15 seconds. When he turned on his recognition lights, he related, "no planes ever parted so fast."

Morgan figured 90 per cent of the bombs dropped at Sienning hit inside that walled city.

"The lead flight dropped 500-pounders and the way things were bouncing around it looked like they raised hell aplenty."

Returning from Sienning, the B-25's reloaded and went back to Yochow with 500 pound explosives.

Col. Merian C. Cooper, Jacksonville, Fla., said hits were scored on buildings, oil tanks and docks at Yochow with "surprising accuracy."

Hurley Votes Fund

Twenty-seven votes were cast Friday evening in Hurley on the proposition to raise $1,200 on the newly formed fire district for the purchase of equipment. All votes were in favor. The fund will be used to purchase a fire engine and a siren for the district and other necessary equipment needed for the establishment of the district.

Men-o'-War Hit Japs at Eight Miles

Communications Officer Tells What Took Place When Japs Hit Guadalcanal

Orders Are Given

Ships Had Orders to Beat Japs, and They Did

Aboard a United States battleship in the South Pacific, Nov. 18 (delayed) (AP)—Opening Salvos of two United States battleships scored direct hits on the surprised Japanese fleet from a distance of about eight miles in the historic naval battle off Savo Island the night of Nov. 14-15.

The action was related today by the communications officers on this "unidentified ship" which participated in the mighty blow which sank one Jap battleship or heavy cruiser, three heavy cruisers and at least two Jap Destroyers in addition to several ships damaged. Here is his story:

"On the morning of the fourteenth we received reports of heavy Jap bombardment of Guadalcanal. Our first job was to get there. We were too late. That day we milled out of sight of the Japs. We received news that two large groups of Jap transports with escorts was on the way to Guadalcanal. One group consisted of two battleships, one heavy cruiser, two light cruisers, and about six destroyers.

"Orders were given to us 'engage and destroy Jap transports which were crippled by air attacks during the day.'

"About 6 p. m. we made our first definite change of course to Savo Island. At sunset, about 7:46 p. m., we went into battle stations. An announcement of our task and known disposition of the enemy was made to the men in keeping with our normal policy of keeping our men intelligently informed. When that news was delivered the men were asked 'men, what is your answer?' Every man responded 'yea!'

"A captain of marines said over the speaker system, 'the marines are ready to give them hell any time.'

"Our best records of going into general quarters was bettered by one and one-half minutes. The men were out to break records. This was the chance we wanted.

"Shortly after 9 o'clock we saw fires which appeared to be explosions to the northwest, about 30 to 40 miles west of the Russell Islands. It is my belief that the Japs were either firing upon their own units or that they were dispatching their own damaged ships to the ocean floor.

"As we approached Savo Island, the tension of our ships increase. Our men began seeing things that were not there. Innumerable false reports were received. Rocks looked like ships and shadows like submarines. The men were straining to get a Jap target.

"As we came around at 11:15 p. m., we passed over the spot where the cruisers Astoria, Vincennes and Quincy had been sunk August 9. This word was passed to all hands. Our men were even more determined to get the —— ——.

"There was a quarter moon, the sky was overcast about 60 to 70 per cent. The water was nice and smooth, perfectly calm.

"At 12:50 a. m. I sighted what I first suspected to be the enemy. My eyesight is unusually good at night.

"Right after that others saw three ships.

"We received orders, 'commence firing when ready.'

"Our first ship's first salvo set her target on fire. It was a direct hit.

"Within 15 to 20 seconds, our target was lined up. We also got

Expense of Using Tanks Against Tanks Has Proof in Libyan Ambush in June

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt Mackenzie, war analyst, is written today by J. R. Triplet of The Associated Press cable desk. Mackenzie, now touring the Middle East war zone, is expected to resume shortly.)

Movement of mechanized equipment into Tunisia by both the allies and the Axis is on a scale to suggest that battles of maneuver will persist throughout much of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's budding offensive.

New tank destroyers of the U. S. armored force—tread-tracked speedsters mounting 105 millimeter guns—were among the cargoes of the North African A.E.F. and should help provide the edge needed finally to pen up the Germans and Italians or drive them into the sea. They complement both wheeled and fixed anti-tank batteries.

The use of tanks against tanks usually is expensive business for one side or the other.

An example was the shattering of a large British armored force in a Libyan desert ambush last June 13, a battle which started Marshal Rommel on his way toward Alexandria and the Nile.

Pursuing a light German armored division and, in turn, pursued by a heavy German armored division, the British tanks were trapped in a defile between Nazi tank guns and Nazi 88-millimeter batteries reported so skilfully camouflaged that R.A.F. reconnaissance fliers had failed to detect them.

The tables were turned eventually, however, by the British eighth army's offensive and it was Rommel who found himself stripped of tanks as the A.E.F. landed in North Africa.

Hitler flew 12-ton tanks to Tunisia and has moved heavier models by sea for what may be his last stand in North Africa.

Unconfirmed by Axis quarters, Reuters reported last week that Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian had been hustled across the Mediterranean in an effort to help Rommel out of the hole. Guderian is the tank expert publicized by the Nazis as "the phantom general" for his

Democratic Publicity Chief Gives G.O.P. Break, Quits Forever, He Says

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—Charles Michelson, 73-year-old publicity chief of the Democratic National committee, has fired his last verbal barrage, he says, at the Republican party.

The veteran reporter, author and a ghost writer par excellence of Democratic campaign speeches for 13 years finally has done what he—and many Republicans—wanted for a long time: put the cover on his battered typewriter at party headquarters and quit politics for good.

"I'm straightening out a few things at the office," Michelson said today, "but officially I'm no longer with the committee."

The publicist, claimed by many Republicans to have been largely responsible for President Hoover's defeat for a second term in 1932, declared he didn't have to submit a formal resignation because "I threw away my contract long ago," and now is "going to loaf."

"Charley," as he is known to President Roosevelt and to the political, business, and newspaper fields, had planned to wait until Edward J. Flynn resigned as National Committee Chairman before quitting but said Flynn had not yet made up his mind when to get out.

The shaggy-haired publicist said he doubted whether a new publicity chief would be appointed at this time as the committee was short on funds and has just reduced its office space in the Mayflower Hotel by two-thirds. In addition, more than 25 stenographers and clerks have been released and jobs found for most of them in the government.

Michelson's friends say the outstanding job of his colorful career was in writing barbed jibes at the Republicans during his publicity career which spanned the Roosevelt administration from its inception to the present.

Committee Gives Nursing Report

Additional County Nurse Is Recommended

A report of the Public Health Nursing Committee of Ulster county was made to the Board of Supervisors Friday evening together with the proposed budget for the ensuing year and a financial statement of the past year. The committee recommended that an additional county nurse be hired for 1943, bringing the number to six. In the last year there have been five county public health nurses and town and state nurses to bring the total number to 12.

A detailed report of the work done during the past year under the jurisdiction of the Public Health Nursing Committee was submitted, showing that over 11,000 visits were made. During the year 19 home nursing courses were conducted and 13 school surveys were made.

At the beginning of the fiscal year there was a balance of $9,061.31 and an appropriation of $6,000 was made for the work in 1942. State refunds brought the total available for the work during the year to $19,277.18. Of that sum $7,128.40 was paid for salaries and $2,174.41 for office expenses, etc., making a total expenditure of $9,302.81 for the year. There remains a balance of $9,974.37 at the close of the 1942 fiscal year and an appropriation of $1,500 was asked for the work during 1943. The total estimated expenditures for the ensuing year with an additional nurse will be $13,956.25 of which the state refunds one half or $6,978.13, leaving a net cost to the county of $6,978.12.

The committee also recommended that probationers and those serving their first year as county nurses receive a salary of $1,600 and that for each additional year of employment an additional in-

Trillions for Defense, but 15 Cents for Leon Is 15 Cents Too Much, They Say

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—Abandoning efforts to block nationwide gasoline rationing, a growing group of congressmen launched a new fight today against Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

Their announced aim is to force his removal from the federal service through the medium of appropriations.

The futility of carrying on the fight against rationing ordered for December 1 was conceded by Representative Boren (D.-Okla.), who said any legislation to stop it would draw a certain veto and thus be a waste of time.

But Boren and others who had joined him in the fight rallied around a new battle cry sounded yesterday in the House by the belligerent Oklahoman:

"Trillions for defense, but fifteen cents for Leon Henderson is fifteen cents too much."

They referred to appropriation bills, to be considered early in the new Congress, through which the Office of Price Administration obtains its operating funds.

Recalling the difficulty administration leaders encountered in obtaining funds for O. P. A. this year, Boren said there were good prospects no funds would be voted for O. P. A. next year unless Henderson were ousted.

High-ranking members of the House appropriations committee, which passes on all supply bills, echoed Boren's sentiments. Henderson was termed "a menace to the war effort" by Representative Taber of New York, ranking Republican on the committee, who suggested O. P. A.'s funds should be drastically curtailed.

Representative Johnson (D.-Okla.), another high-ranking member and long a foe of Henderson, commented that it might be wise

250,000 Men May Go to Colleges Under New Plan

Colleges and Universities May Become Training Bases for Men in Armed Forces

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Facing a heavy loss in enrollment due to operation of the draft law, colleges and universities learned today that their classrooms may be filled by as many as 250,000 men from the armed forces under a plan expected to be outlined in detail within the next two weeks.

This proposed large scale conversion of many of the nation's institutions of higher learning into training bases was disclosed yesterday by Lieut. Col. Harley B. West of the War Department General Staff, who emphasized that any such relationship between the armed services and the schools will be on a voluntary basis.

He told a meeting of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that the government would like to set the plan in operation at the earliest possible moment to offset the disruption which will be caused to colleges by the drafting of 18 and 19-year-old men.

Elaborating on the point that there would be no requisitioning Joseph W. Barker, dean of the Columbia University School of Engineering and special assistant to Secretary of Navy Knox, told the educators:

"There is no desire on the part of either the army or the navy to dictate to you what you must do. We are hoping to give you a maximum of leeway in the presentation of material and a maximum of academic freedom."

Dr. Edmund E. Day, president of Cornell University, estimated that as many as 250,000 service men may be sent to colleges under the plan.

Boys Riding Bicycle Hit by an Automobile

Robert Jones, 16, and Andrew Small, 11, two negro boys, both of 157 Abeel street, had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday afternoon when the bicycle they were riding was in collision with an automobile driven by James W. Folwell of Eddyville.

Mr. Folwell in reporting the accident to the police department said he was turning from West Strand into Ravine street when the boys on the bicycle suddenly appeared in front of his auto.

Following the crash he took both boys to the Kingston Hospital. The Jones boy lost a tooth and was injured about the head, while the Small youth was cut about the back and injured about the mouth.

Frederick Snare Dies

Englewood, N. J., Nov. 28 (AP)—Frederick Snare, Jr., 50, engineering executive and a hero of the first World War, died yesterday of a heart ailment in Englewood Hospital. Snare was secretary, treasurer and a director of the Frederick Snare Corporation, New York contracting engineers, which did contracting work on such projects as the Triborough Bridge, Whitestone Bridge, West Side highway, East river drive and the Chelsea pier in New York and on enterprises in Havana, Peru, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama.

Paris Radio Admits Allies Begin Series of Violent Attacks Against Nazis

No Salvage Likely

London Doubts Nazis Would Attempt to Salvage Ships

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

American, British and French troops were reported springing forward in a climactic assault against the Axis in Tunisia today as the Allied Nations still thrilled to the heroic scuttling of the French naval squadron at Toulon, France.

"The British First Army has left its defense positions for the big offensive," said a broadcast from Allied-held Algiers.

A Reuters military correspondent said today that "according to the latest information the Russian pincers have closed on the Don south of Kalach, thus surrounding a large Axis army in the Stalingrad pocket."

Swiss reports said Allied troops had advanced within 12 miles of Tunis, the capital, southern anchor of the Axis fortified zone along the northeast coast of Tunisia.

The Nazi-controlled Paris radio admitted that the Allies, bolstered by reinforcements, were launching a series of violent attacks against the Tunis-Bizerte arc of defenses.

The broadcast also reported that Allied troops had infiltrated into Axis lines in heavy fighting at Mejez El Bab, 28 miles southwest of Tunis. Allied dispatches already have reported the capture of Mejez El Bab, an important communications hub.

Details of the new offensive were scarce, but the Berlin radio previously acknowledged that Allied troops had started hammering a wedge between Tunis and Bizerte in an attempt to split the two key Axis strongholds following a clash with German and Italian troops at Mateur, 25 miles south of Bizerte.

Across the Mediterranean, muffled explosions still boomed throughout the night from the hulks of three score French warships in Toulon harbor, sunk by French seamen yesterday in the greatest mass scuttling since the destruction of the German fleet at Scapa Flow at the end of the 1914-18 World War.

Berlin radio broadcasts, after first declaring that some of the French men o' war were saved by German troops, admitted today that the fleet "mostly scuttled herself."

Conflicting reports spread confusion as to the exact number of ships sunk out of the squadron of 62 warcraft, including three battleships, based at Toulon.

A Vichy broadcast yesterday said that six hours after Adolf Hitler's grey-clad legions swarmed into the port "not a ship remained afloat." Subsequently, a British broadcast declared "some French destroyers" escaped and might be en route to join the allies in North Africa, while other reports said two submarines had slipped out of the harbor.

Washington official quarters urged caution in accepting the story of the wholesale scuttling at face value, pointing out that the information came from enemy or enemy-controlled sources. There was little disposition in London, however, to question the accounts. London observers said allied reconnaissance planes had probably brought back pictures of the harbor scene and that the Germans would know there would be swift detection of a hoax.

The London Daily Express naval commentator predicted that the Nazis would not ever attempt to salvage the estimated 230,000 tons of warships scuttled in the harbor, declaring it would take nearly two years to float and refit them.

Anxiety Is Ended

Observers generally agreed that the dramatic "suicide" ended a major allied anxiety lest the powerful French squadron be seized by Hitler and joined with the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean.

On the Russian front, Soviet dispatches reported that Red army columns striking eastward in a giant circling movement had thrown the Germans back across the Don river—toward Stalingrad—and tightened a steel noose around the invaders.

Approximately 300,000 Nazis were reported in immediate danger of being trapped.

The German high command acknowledged that Soviet attacks before Stalingrad had been renewed with great force, but, as usual, asserted they had been repulsed. Yesterday the Nazi com-

"Shortly after 9 o'clock we saw fires which appeared to be explosions to the northwest, about 30 to 40 miles west of the Russell Islands. It is my belief that the Japs were either firing upon their own units or that they were dispatching their own damaged ships to the ocean floor.

"As we approached Savo Island, the tension of our ships increase. Our men began seeing things that were not there. Innumerable false reports were received. Rocks looked like ships and shadows like submarines. The men were straining to get a Jap target.

Allies Advance Within Dozen Miles Of Tunis, Close in on Nazis; Russians Said to Have Trapped German Army

Paris Radio Admits Allies Begin Series of Violent Attacks Against Nazis

No Salvage Likely

London Doubts Nazis Would Attempt to Salvage Ships

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

American, British and French troops were reported springing forward in a climactic assault against the Axis in Tunisia today as the Allied Nations still thrilled to the heroic scuttling of the French naval squadron at Toulon, France.

"The British First Army has left its defense positions for the big offensive," said a broadcast from Allied-held Algiers.

A Reuters military correspondent said today that "according to the latest information the Russian pincers have closed on the Don south of Kalach, thus surrounding a large Axis army in the Stalingrad pocket."

Swiss reports said Allied troops had advanced within 12 miles of Tunis, the capital, southern anchor of the Axis fortified zone along the northeast coast of Tunisia.

The Nazi-controlled Paris radio admitted that the Allies, bolstered by reinforcements, were launching a series of violent attacks against the Tunis-Bizerte arc of defenses.

The broadcast also reported that Allied troops had infiltrated into Axis lines in heavy fighting at Mejez El Bab, 28 miles southwest of Tunis. Allied dispatches already have reported the capture of Mejez El Bab, an important communications hub.

Details of the new offensive were scarce, but the Berlin radio previously acknowledged that Allied troops had started hammering a wedge between Tunis and Bizerte in an attempt to split the two key Axis strongholds following a clash with German and Italian troops at Mateur, 25 miles south of Bizerte.

Across the Mediterranean, muffled explosions still boomed throughout the night from the hulks of three score French warships in Toulon harbor, sunk by French seamen yesterday in the greatest mass scuttling since the destruction of the German fleet at Scapa Flow at the end of the 1914-18 World War.

Berlin radio broadcasts, after first declaring that some of the French men o' war were saved by German troops, admitted today that the fleet "mostly scuttled herself."

Conflicting reports spread confusion as to the exact number of ships sunk out of the squadron of 62 warcraft, including three battleships, based at Toulon.

A Vichy broadcast yesterday said that six hours after Adolf Hitler's grey-clad legions swarmed into the port "not a ship remained afloat." Subsequently, a British broadcast declared "some French destroyers" escaped and might be en route to join the allies in North Africa, while other reports said two submarines had slipped out of the harbor.

Washington official quarters urged caution in accepting the story of the wholesale scuttling at face value, pointing out that the information came from enemy or enemy-controlled sources. There was little disposition in London, however, to question the accounts. London observers said allied reconnaissance planes had probably brought back pictures of the harbor scene and that the Germans would know there would be swift detection of a hoax.

The London Daily Express naval commentator predicted that the Nazis would not ever attempt to salvage the estimated 230,000 tons of warships scuttled in the harbor, declaring it would take nearly two years to float and refit them.

Anxiety Is Ended

Observers generally agreed that the dramatic "suicide" ended a major allied anxiety lest the powerful French squadron be seized by Hitler and joined with the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean.

On the Russian front, Soviet dispatches reported that Red army columns striking eastward in a giant circling movement had thrown the Germans back across the Don river—toward Stalingrad—and tightened a steel noose around the invaders.

Approximately 300,000 Nazis were reported in immediate danger of being trapped.

The German high command acknowledged that Soviet attacks before Stalingrad had been renewed with great force, but, as usual, asserted they had been repulsed. Yesterday the Nazi com-

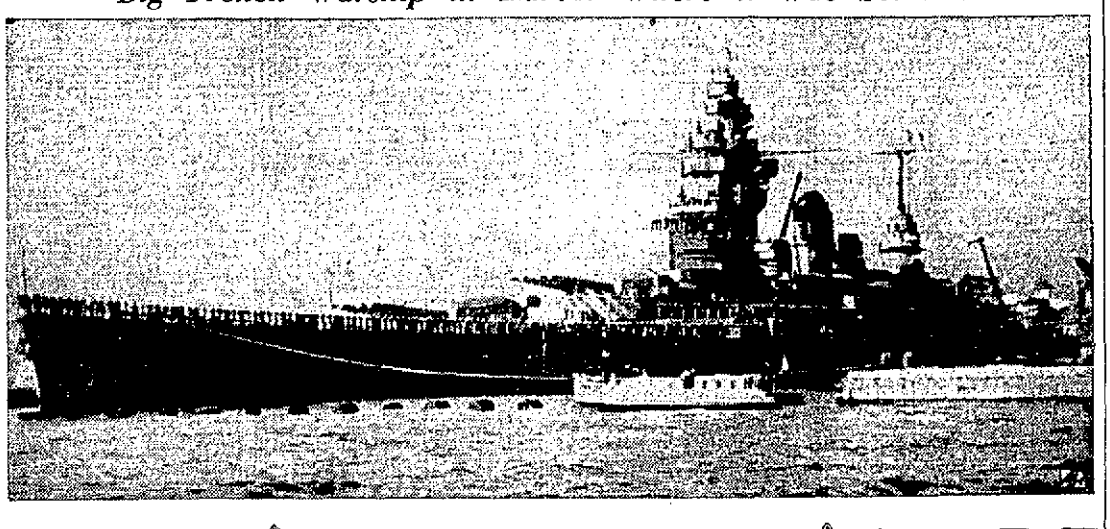
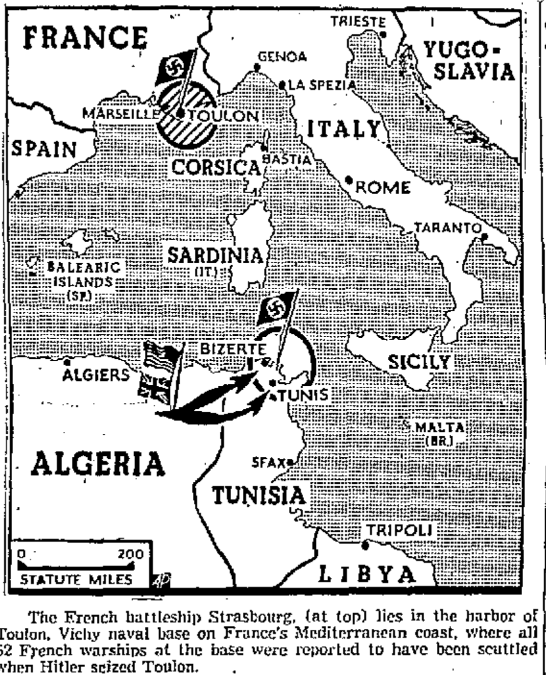
Big French Warship in Harbor Where it Was Scuttled





The French battleship Strasbourg, (at top) lies in the harbor of Toulon, Vichy naval base on France's Mediterranean coast, where all 62 French warships at the base were reported to have been scuttled when Hitler seized Toulon.

Above map shows relative location of Toulon, French naval base seized by the Germans but apparently at the cost of having the entire Vichy fleet of 62 warships scuttled by their crews, and the Tunisian battle area where the Allies moved slowly toward the Axis-held ports of Bizerte and Tunis.

Maneuver Battles Likely to Persist AsCampaignGrows

Expense of Using Tanks Against Tanks Has Proof in Libyan Ambush in June

(This column, conducted as a daily feature by DeWitt Mackenzie, war analyst, is written today by J. R. Triplet of The Associated Press cable desk. Mackenzie, now touring the Middle East war zone, is expected to resume shortly.)

Movement of mechanized equipment into Tunisia by both the allies and the Axis is on a scale to suggest that battles of maneuver will persist throughout much of Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's budding offensive.

New tank destroyers of the U. S. armored force—tread-tracked speedsters mounting 105 millimeter guns—were among the cargoes of the North African A.E.F. and should help provide the edge needed finally to pen up the Germans and Italians or drive them into the sea. They complement both wheeled and fixed anti-tank batteries.

The use of tanks against tanks usually is expensive business for one side or the other.

An example was the shattering of a large British armored force in a Libyan desert ambush last June 13, a battle which started Marshal Rommel on his way toward Alexandria and the Nile.

Pursuing a light German armored division and, in turn, pursued by a heavy German armored division, the British tanks were trapped in a defile between Nazi tank guns and Nazi 88-millimeter batteries reported so skilfully camouflaged that R.A.F. reconnaissance fliers had failed to detect them.

The tables were turned eventually, however, by the British eighth army's offensive and it was Rommel who found himself stripped of tanks as the A.E.F. landed in North Africa.

Hitler flew 12-ton tanks to Tunisia and has moved heavier models by sea for what may be his last stand in North Africa.

Unconfirmed by Axis quarters, Reuters reported last week that Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian had been hustled across the Mediterranean in an effort to help Rommel out of the hole. Guderian is the tank expert publicized by the Nazis as "the phantom general" for his

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—Charles Michelson, 73-year-old publicity chief of the Democratic National committee, has fired his last verbal barrage, he says, at the Republican party.

The veteran reporter, author and a ghost writer par excellence of Democratic campaign speeches for 13 years finally has done what he—and many Republicans—wanted for a long time: put the cover on his battered typewriter at party headquarters and quit politics for good.

"I'm straightening out a few things at the office," Michelson said today, "but officially I'm no longer with the committee."

The publicist, claimed by many Republicans to have been largely responsible for President Hoover's defeat for a second term in 1932, declared he didn't have to submit a formal resignation because "I threw away any contract long ago," and now is "going to loaf."

"Charley," as he is known to President Roosevelt and to the political, business, and newspaper fields, had planned to wait until Edward J. Flynn resigned as National Committee Chairman before quitting but said Flynn had not yet made up his mind when to get out.

The shaggy-haired publicist said he doubted whether a new publicity chief would be appointed at this time as the committee was short on funds and has just reduced its office space in the Mayflower Hotel by two-thirds. In addition, more than 25 stenographers and clerks have been released and jobs found for most of them in the government.

Michelson's friends say the outstanding job of his colorful career was in writing barbed jibes at the Republicans during his publicity career which spanned the Roosevelt administration from its inception to the present.

Committee Gives Nursing Report

Additional County Nurse Is Recommended

A report of the Public Health Nursing Committee of Ulster county was made to the Board of Supervisors Friday evening together with the proposed budget for the ensuing year and a financial statement of the past year. The committee recommended that an additional county nurse be hired for 1943, bringing the number to six. In the last year there have been five county public health nurses and town and state nurses to bring the total number to 12.

A detailed report of the work done during the past year under the jurisdiction of the Public Health Nursing Committee was submitted, showing that over 11,000 visits were made. During the year 19 home nursing courses were conducted and 13 school surveys were made.

At the beginning of the fiscal year there was a balance of $9,061.31 and an appropriation of $6,000 was made for the work in 1942. State refunds brought the total available for the work during the year to $19,277.18. Of that sum $7,128.40 was paid for salaries and $2,174.41 for office expenses, etc., making a total expenditure of $9,302.81 for the year. There remains a balance of $9,974.37 at the close of the 1942 fiscal year and an appropriation of $1,500 was asked for the work during 1943. The total estimated expenditures for the ensuing year with an additional nurse will be $13,956.25 of which the state refunds one half or $6,978.13, leaving a net cost to the county of $6,978.12.

The committee also recommended that probationers and those serving their first year as county nurses receive a salary of $1,600 and that for each additional year of employment an additional in-

Trillions for Defense, but 15 Cents for Leon Is 15 Cents Too Much, They Say

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—Abandoning efforts to block nationwide gasoline rationing, a growing group of congressmen launched a new fight today against Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

Their announced aim is to force his removal from the federal service through the medium of appropriations.

The futility of carrying on the fight against rationing ordered for December 1 was conceded by Representative Boren (D.-Okla.), who said any legislation to stop it would draw a certain veto and thus be a waste of time.

But Boren and others who had joined him in the fight rallied around a new battle cry sounded yesterday in the House by the belligerent Oklahoman:

"Trillions for defense, but fifteen cents for Leon Henderson is fifteen cents too much."

They referred to appropriation bills, to be considered early in the new Congress, through which the Office of Price Administration obtains its operating funds.

Recalling the difficulty administration leaders encountered in obtaining funds for O. P. A. this year, Boren said there were good prospects no funds would be voted for O. P. A. next year unless Henderson were ousted.

High-ranking members of the House appropriations committee, which passes on all supply bills, echoed Boren's sentiments. Henderson was termed "a menace to the war effort" by Representative Taber of New York, ranking Republican on the committee, who suggested O. P. A.'s funds should be drastically curtailed.

Representative Johnson (D.-Okla.), another high-ranking member and long a foe of Henderson, commented that it might be wise

250,000 Men May Go to Colleges Under New Plan

Colleges and Universities May Become Training Bases for Men in Armed Forces

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Facing a heavy loss in enrollment due to operation of the draft law, colleges and universities learned today that their classrooms may be filled by as many as 250,000 men from the armed forces under a plan expected to be outlined in detail within the next two weeks.

This proposed large scale conversion of many of the nation's institutions of higher learning into training bases was disclosed yesterday by Lieut. Col. Harley B. West of the War Department General Staff, who emphasized that any such relationship between the armed services and the schools will be on a voluntary basis.

He told a meeting of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that the government would like to set the plan in operation at the earliest possible moment to offset the disruption which will be caused to colleges by the drafting of 18 and 19-year-old men.

Elaborating on the point that there would be no requisitioning Joseph W. Barker, dean of the Columbia University School of Engineering and special assistant to Secretary of Navy Knox, told the educators:

"There is no desire on the part of either the army or the navy to dictate to you what you must do. We are hoping to give you a maximum of leeway in the presentation of material and a maximum of academic freedom."

Dr. Edmund E. Day, president of Cornell University, estimated that as many as 250,000 service men may be sent to colleges under the plan.

Boys Riding Bicycle Hit by an Automobile

Robert Jones, 16, and Andrew Small, 11, two negro boys, both of 157 Abeel street, had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday afternoon when the bicycle they were riding was in collision with an automobile driven by James W. Folwell of Eddyville.

Mr. Folwell in reporting the accident to the police department said he was turning from West Strand into Ravine street when the boys on the bicycle suddenly appeared in front of his auto.

Following the crash he took both boys to the Kingston Hospital. The Jones boy lost a tooth and was injured about the head, while the Small youth was cut about the back and injured about the mouth.

Snare was secretary, treasurer and a director of the Frederick Snare Corporation, New York contracting engineers, which did contracting work on such projects as the Triborough Bridge, Whitestone Bridge, West Side highway, East river drive and the Chelsea pier in New York and on enterprises in Havana, Peru, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama.

New York's Policy For Higher Education

Albany—Changes to speed college and high school education in New York state, without lowering the high standards established over many years, have been approved by the Board of Regents, it was announced today by Dr. J. Hillis Miller, Associate Commissioner in charge of higher and professional education.

The statement of policy has been prepared as a result of several conferences with college officials from all over the state and long and careful consideration by officials of the State Education Department, Doctor Miller pointed out.

The Regents encourage high school principals to permit high school pupils of unusual ability to take additional or accelerated courses, if in the judgment of secondary school authorities the pupils may thereby be prepared adequately and in less time for higher education, thus permitting the pupils to complete high school in less than four years.

Another change encourages colleges and universities to increase their programs of physical education so students may "render a maximum contribution to their country." The greatly increased need of education for women for the war effort is recognized in the recommendation that women's colleges speed up their programs and arrange courses to prepare women for war work.

Doubling of present state scholarships, both in number and amount, is also recommended on a term-by-term basis.

Mussolini Is Ill, Caviglia May Be Put in His Post

Montevideo, Uruguay, Nov. 28 (AP).—Reports from a reliable South African diplomatic source said today that Premier Mussolini was gravely ill and, if he became fully incapacitated, might be succeeded by a government likely to discuss a separate peace for Italy.

(These reports were similar to those of a few days ago from London to the effect that disaffected military leaders in Germany were forming a junkers junta with a view to isolating Hitler and taking control of the government. There is a possibility that all were inspired by Axis leaders in an effort to promote overconfidence among the United Nations.)

The South American source, whose name could not be disclosed, said Mussolini was suffering from stomach ulcers complicated by heart trouble.

Rome observers were said to be discussing Marshal Pietro Caviglia, 80-year-old former minister of war, as a likely successor to the ailing Il Duce.

The source said that advices from abroad indicated that many Italians had been executed for "indifference" to the conduct of the war, and that the belief was spreading that Italy has lost the war "no matter who is going to dictate the peace."

Grady Is Reported In Fair Condition At Local Hospital

Thomas Grady, 71-year-old resident of the Glenerie section, was reported in apparently fair condition at the Kingston Hospital this morning, having escaped with a laceration over the right eye and abrasions about the face when he walked into a large truck near the top of Glenerie hill, on 9-W, about 8:30 Friday night.

Leonard Inzeo, of The Bronx, driver of a Transportation and Warehouse Corp. truck from Long Island City, said that he was on his way from Albany to New York, driving slowly south on 9-W, when near the top of Glenerie hill he saw a man crossing the road, from the east side. He pulled toward his right and brought his truck to a stop when he heard a "thud." Going back a short distance he found a man lying in the road. A passing motorist notified the sheriff's office and Conner's ambulance took Grady to the Kingston Hospital.

Inzeo told Deputy Sheriff Leonard Belmore, who with Deputy DeWitt Barley made the investigation, that he was driving slowly at the time of the accident, his lights were dim and his helper was on the side of the truck with a flashlight.

War Department Takes City's Snogo

Will Pay City $7,395, Amount It Cost City

The Snogo, purchased by the Board of Public Works in 1941 for the sum of $7,395, was taken over by the War Department this morning, and will be used to remove snow from one of the training camps during the coming winter.

The War Department has agreed to repay the city the amount paid for the machine when it was originally bought. The Snogo was practically new having been used but a short time during the winter of 1941-42 by the city.

Superintendent Max Oppenheimer of the Board of Public Works said today that the loss of the machine would be keenly felt if there was considerable snow this winter due to the lack of labor. The machine, he said, was the only mobile snow loader in the city's fleet of snow removal equipment.

A few months ago a representative of the War Department was in Kingston and inspected the Snogo, which he found in excellent condition. At that time he informed Superintendent Oppenheimer that the War Department planned to take over the machine later in the year.

Designates National Day of Prayer for Victory

With a prayer for "God's mercy on all war suffering people and imploring peace and victory," the Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman, archbishop of New York, has written all pastors in the archdiocese inviting attention to the designation by the archbishops and bishops of the United States of Tuesday, December 8, the feast of the Immaculate Conception, as "a national day of prayer for victory, asking Divine guidance and protection of our soldiers and sailors."

"The Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary," the archbishop wrote, "is the patronal feast of the United States of America and a fitting day on which to implore God's mercy upon the men of our armed forces so nobly defending the principles of our Founding Fathers.

"I know it will be only necessary to suggest to your devoted people that they hear Mass on this feast for the intention of the defenders of our traditions and if possible receive Holy Communion on that day for the same intention.

"Where it is possible to have sufficient adorers, the Blessed Sacrament may be exposed after the last Mass for the remainder of the day closing with special prayers for peace, a sermon and benediction, or a holy hour."

Riozzo-Comstock Case To Be Continued Monday

Testimony was taken Friday in the action brought by Anthony Riozzi, by guardian, and his father, Angelo Riozzi, against Dr. and Mrs. Comstock to recover damages for injuries which young Riozzi received when struck by the Comstock car near the Saugerties school. The young boy suffered a broken leg and it is claimed that there is a permanent shortening of the leg. He spent 20 days in the hospital after the accident and in addition to the claim of the injuries, his father seeks to recover for medical and hospital bills.

When Justice Bergan recessed court until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the case was still in progress, the plaintiff not having concluded his case.

Special Evensong Will Be Given by St. John's Choir

The first Sunday in Advent which is the beginning of the new church year, will be marked at St. John's Episcopal Church; Albany and Tremper avenues, by a special service of Choral Evensong with full choir at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

A special feature of these vesper services is St. John's Boy Choir, one of the few left in the country. Under the direction of Robert D. Williams, the choir has maintained a high standard of quality throughout the years, training boys without regard to creed in the truly great music of the church. It has been an institution of St. John's since January 15, 1890.

The choir has prepared an inspiring program of Advent music as follows:

Processional—"Lo He Comes with Clouds Descending" .... Cantus Diversi
Psalter, Psalm 92 chanted .... MacFarren
Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis in A Minor .... Noble
Anthem after Third Collect—"Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord" .... Garrett
Hymn—"Saviour, Breathe an Evening Blessing" .... Bortniansky
Offertory Anthem—"Thus Saith God the Lord" ...... Hosmer
Vesper Hymn—"Lead Me, Lord" - Wesley
Recessional—"Saviour, Again to Thy Dear Name We Raise" ... Hopkins

A meditation on "The Meaning of Advent" will be brought by the Rev. Edmund J. Walenta, resident priest at the Convent of St. Anne.

Following the service there will be a tea and social gathering in the parish hall under the direction of the Parish Aid Society, Mrs. Parker K. Brinnier, president.

The public is cordially invited to the service and to the tea which follows.

New York's Policy For Higher Education

Albany—Changes to speed college and high school education in New York state, without lowering the high standards established over many years, have been approved by the Board of Regents, it was announced today by Dr. J. Hillis Miller, Associate Commissioner in charge of higher and professional education.

The statement of policy has been prepared as a result of several conferences with college officials from all over the state and long and careful consideration by officials of the State Education Department, Doctor Miller pointed out.

The Regents encourage high school principals to permit high school pupils of unusual ability to take additional or accelerated courses, if in the judgment of secondary school authorities the pupils may thereby be prepared adequately and in less time for higher education, thus permitting the pupils to complete high school in less than four years.

Another change encourages colleges and universities to increase their programs of physical education so students may "render a maximum contribution to their country." The greatly increased need of education for women for the war effort is recognized in the recommendation that women's colleges speed up their programs and arrange courses to prepare women for war work.

Doubling of present state scholarships, both in number and amount, is also recommended on a term-by-term basis.

FORGOTTEN AND NEGLECTED

"Every two minutes someone's home is attacked by fire," W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, said recently. Two-thirds of our fire deaths occur in homes and thirty per cent of these fatalities are children under ten years of ago. What a tragic commentary on American carelessness!

Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property and thousands of innocent lives go up in smoke every year, and the best excuse is usually, "I forgot." "I forgot" to close the damper; "I forgot" to turn off the heater, or "I forgot" to put up the fireplace screen.

Next to the "I forgot" excuse is the "I neglected" one. This excuse applies to hundreds of fire hazards; accumulated scrap, dirty or cracked flues, poor insulation, faulty wiring. Other fire hazards are due to improper construction. Strict adherence to building codes are the best guards against these.

Practically all fires could be prevented. The fire insurance industry spends much time and money annually trying to educate the citizens to be fire conscious. If these efforts are to be measurably successful, the citizen must exhibit a willingness to learn. Communities without effective fire departments and efficient fire marshals are living on borrowed time. Even with such protection, fire prevention is meaningless unless the individual realizes the horror of fire, and neither "forgets" nor "neglects" to take every possible step to protect himself and his loved ones.

HOARDING

The "panic buying" in this country is a shameful thing. It means that many people, in a time of national danger, are trying to take advantage of their friends and neighbors. Thereby they spread fear and threaten inflation.

Self-interest as well as sportsmanship should check this sort of thing. Common sense should check it. The more grabbing and hoarding there is, the worse the general situation will be, and the more drastic and troublesome methods will have to be taken to stop it.

Shipwrecked people don't do this. They share alike, without fighting over the provisions.

Anyway, in this richest and best provisioned country in the world there is no serious scarcity. Everybody can be fed and clothed if other people are decent about it.

We can all be rationed for a hundred things, and will be, if the grabbers and hoarders go much farther. But it would be so much decent and safe if everybody would buy only as much as he really needs, of things that are scarce.

The British people, who are far worse off than we are about provisions and comforts, stopped all this selfishness long ago.

HUMBLE FRIENDS

Speaking of the prestige which American power and friendliness are now winning throughout the world, there is the story told about the reception of the first marines who landed on the Solomon Islands to oust the Japanese. The natives were gathered on the beach to welcome them. And the first words uttered on that historic occasion were those of their chief: "Americans! Me American too!"

All the natives in those far-flung islands of the Pacific seem to be good Americans now, just as the Africans are, regardless of tribal organization or official allegiance. They have no fear of us. They welcome us as big brothers and are ready to cooperate with us. They will stand with us against the Japanese or any other aggressors, as long as we continue to give them a square deal and to recognize, despite their reputed barbarism, that "a man's a man, for a' that."

NOMURA WAKES UP

At last the Japs begin to realize that they must take Uncle Sam seriously. The lighthearted confidence they formerly showed is gone, among their responsible leaders. It is interesting to have this change of sentiment revealed by no less a person than Admiral Nomura. He was ambassador at Washington when the Pacific war started, and one of the powerful group that underestimated and betrayed the United States. He is quoted now by a German news agency as follows:

He regrets that many Japanese have been prone to regard the whole situation as very simple, and to reckon on an easily won victory. "This is a war," he insists, " on which the nation's existence depends, one which can only be won by the greatest possible faith in victory. One should never rely on the enemy not coming, but should be prepared for his coming."

So the little men have discovered that Uncle Sam really packs a wallop. So far, so good. But they will need more than faith to win. And they haven't seen anything yet.

YOUNGEST GENERAL

The youngest lieutenant-general in our history has just been created in the person of Mark Clark, one of the outstanding heroes of our North African campaign. He is just 46.

In the last war, generals in their 60's and 70's were not uncommon. The Germans even had one aged 81: General Von Haeseler, who fought at Verdun.

Hitler has changed all that. Present-day strategy and tactics are so different from those conceived before the war that the utmost openmindedness on the part of military leaders is necessary. While there are openminded men in middle life and later, advancing age too often hardens the mental arteries. Stuffed-shirtedness, too, is apt to intensify with the years. Hitler's generals are mostly young men. The British, too, felt the need of reducing the age of their commanders. Leslie Hore-Belisha, the energetic head of the War Office a few years ago, got in young men right and left. This forehandedness probably saved England's bacon in 1940.

Now we are following. It is a wise practice.

Those lads who lately seemed so shiftless and irresponsible are now winning the war for us.

There seem to be always shortages of everything, but we go ahead just the same.

ELECTRO-SHOCK TREATMENT

It is known that under routine treatment in mental hospitals about 6 of every 10 patients who enter are able to return to home or business. It is because this routine or hospital treatment is so successful that many families hesitate to have their loved ones undergo the shock treatment by insulin or metrazol, they keep hoping that a cure may be affected without shock treatment.

It is, however, mostly in cases that are not improving under the regular treatment that the shock method is used, and also to shorten the stay in hospital of certain cases.

Why do patients and families object to the shock treatment? While most patients come through the shock treatment without accident, there are others where the violence of the convulsions caused by insulin or metrazol produces injuries such as a dislocation of a joint or a broken bone. Naturally neither patient nor family like the idea of undergoing more of these treatments.

I have spoken before of the use of electricity to produce shock in mental patients. As this method does not cause such severe convulsions and is not feared by patient or family, it is being tried out in various institutions.

To prevent damage to muscles and bones by electric shock, Dr. Prior Shelton, Kansas City, Mo., in The Journal of the Missouri Medical Association suggests the use of the drug curare before the treatment is given. Dr. Shelton reports 456 electric shock treatments given in 67 patients with satisfactory results. These 67 patients were first put under the influence of curare.

The three advantages of this method over shock by insulin or metrazol are (a) it does not require injection into the veins, which is dreaded by some patients, (b) the convulsion by electricity is less severe than that resulting from metrazol, (c) although some fractures and dislocations have resulted from electro-shock treatment, the percentage of cases is much lower than when metrazol is used. The use of curare before the shock treatment is given not only to reduce the percentage of accidents but to make use of restraints and mouth gags necessary.

It can be readily seen then why patient and family will be more willing to undergo shock by electricity than by metrazol.

Merger of parishes because of a reduced membership resulting from the birth rate failing to keep pace with losses by death and migration is advocated by the Rev. T. A. During 10 years Protestants of the area have lost a quarter of their young population, Bishop Harvey said.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

With four of its charter members as guests of honor Weiner Hose Company on Thursday evening, April 19, 1928, celebrated the golden jubilee of the company with a banquet and dance at the Golden Rule Inn.

The four charter members who were still living and who were honored that night were Roswell Saulpaugh, Charles B. Stow, Joseph J. Tubby and William S. Campbell.

The fire company was organized in 1878 as the Franklin Hose Company, No. 6, and in 1884, the name was changed to the Ike & Dick Hose Company, in honor of Isaac and Richard Weiner. In 1885, a year later, the name was changed to the Weiner Hose Company, No. 6.

At the jubilee banquet Louis H. Kolts, president of the Kingston Board of Fire Commissioners and a member of Weiner Hose, presided as toastmaster, and addresses were delivered by Mayor E. J. Dempsey and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

During the serving of the banquet Paul Zucca led the diners in singing popular and old time song hits, while his orchestra furnished the music for dancing.

It is interesting to recall that the 18 charter members of the fire company were William S. Campbell, William T. Fisher, Johannas Hausenflough, Hubert Heaney, Augustus Heaney, Daniel Heaney, Charles Klein, John T. Meader, Milford B. Myers, Elias Myers, George Palmer, Eugene Pelham, Roswell Saulpaugh, Charles B. Stow, James Tripp, Robert Tubby, Joseph J. Tubby and George Weber.

At the time of the jubilee celebration the men serving Weiner Hose as its officers were: Joseph Disch, Sr., president; foreman, Henry Ulrich, first assistant foreman, Robert Dennis; second assistant foreman, Kenneth Haines; secretary, Lee Gregory; treasurer, George Canfield; trustees, John Heaney, Frank Palisi, Charles Gassen, Floyd Weiss and Fred Scholl.

Older readers will recall Ike and Dick Weiner, who, for years, were prominent residents of Kingston. I recall that Ike Weiner for years conducted a retail and wholesale liquor store on lower Hasbrouck avenue.

In later years he opened the Weiner Hotel in the building now occupied by the Kingston Trust Company branch on central Broadway, at Dederick street. The hotel was operated for some years before it finally closed its doors.

Later the former hotel was bought by the Kingston Trust Co. and the lower floor used as a branch bank.

'Platform of Protest' Might Engender Rebellious Spirit in Congress as New Members Take Office

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 23—There's an unhealthy mood developing in the national capital, with a spirit of rebellious controversy back of it. All the wisdom and forbearance of mature men will be needed to keep this friction from hurting the war effort.

Basically, the trouble lies in the fact that the nation elected a large number of new members of Congress on a platform of protest. That protest is not only going unheeded but it looks as if the very men who were complained of by the people from their maladministration are to be kept in office or elevated to other posts of responsibility.

The latest news, for instance, is that the President may reorganize his cabinet, but the names mentioned are from the same coterie of New Dealers who have been associated with his administration from the beginning. On capitol hill, they are saying that if the President does not know the meaning of the latest election, then Congress will have to insist on telling him by concrete acts of refusal to do his bidding.

This is an unfortunate state of affairs. It is regrettable. For the nation will pay for the stubbornness and bitterness being engendered. The President has it in his power to bring about a different spirit and a different mood. He has more authority than any other man in this nation's history ever had. He has the confidence of many people in the Republican party as well as in his own party. On the broad issues of foreign policy, he has won bi-partisan support before and he can do so again. But on his insistence that the New Deal must go on and that the New Dealers are the only persons competent to manage the big economic jobs of the war in his cabinet, he is unfortunately stirring up controversy. He is paying little heed to what the members of Congress are saying.

Take, for instance, rationing. Congress receives complaints from constituents. Instead of everybody working together on rationing problems, many groups are at cross-purposes. The very people who should be urging the people to accept restrictive measures are pushed around. America's most successful men in the management class find themselves embarrassed because their salaries are reduced below pre-war levels, while the income of other groups is substantially increased above pre-war levels.

The administration, instead of working out a fair formula, allows radicals with a punitive point of view to sit in high places and write regulations that merely increase the sum total of controversy and resentment. The President listens to the New Dealers and their socialistic viewpoint and does not hesitate to allow them to use war powers to put over their socialistic schemes of income control.

Maybe there's a sadistic joy somewhere in officialdom in carrying on their class feuds during wartime, but it is difficult for the disinterested observer to see what constructive purpose is served thereby.

It is a matter of deep disappointment to read that the President has been told by organized labor just whom he should appoint to take charge of the manpower problem and who should be denied such a job. It is even more disconcerting to read that Mr. Roosevelt is considering a reshuffling of his cabinet based on his desire to offend cabinet members who have already outstayed their welcome with the American people but who still qualify in the President's mind, apparently, as the most capable and efficient persons for these portfolios that the Democratic party or any other party can produce in the midst of the gravest crisis in history.

If any commanding general or admiral chose his staff on the same basis that Mr. Roosevelt chooses or retains his cabinet members, the war would surely be lost. Yet with enormous responsibilities of a civilian nature related to the war, the President doesn't seem to realize as yet that the people in the last elections showed they were fed up with the administrators he has chosen. It's a bitter pill for any man to swallow his pride and admit error. But the men who can do it are the big men in history. They are the men who disassociate their pride from the equation and make decisions solely on the basis of what will benefit their fellow men.

A new spirit is needed in Washington—at the White House, on capitol hill, and inside the government bureaus and departments. It is a spirit of reconciliation, a spirit that puts aside selfishness of all kind and applies the lessons not of theoretical but of practical everyday Christianity. Something of this spirit must soon enter Washington life or the rebellion that is starting on capitol hill will grow to a bitter climax by the first of the year, when the new Congress comes here.

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

Some fall fiction—

Thanksgiving week is always the lowest ebb of the fall in fiction, at least in a quantitative sense. But still there are some books about.

There is a very good mystery collection to be had in "The Fourth Mystery Book," for example, notable for two reasons. One is the range of the stories—drawing room to the boys who talk out of the left third of their months. The other is the fact that none of the six books thus assembled has ever appeared between boards. All that remains is to list the authors, and here they are: Mary Roberts Rhinehart, Mignon G. Eberhart, Philip Wylie, Hugh Pentecost, Dana Lyon and Q. Patrick. Five you know—Dana Lyon you quite likely will know better.

Most of us remember "Escape," one of the best suspense novels using the turbulent background of latter-day Europe. It was written by Ethel Vance, who revealed herself as Grace Zaring Stone as soon as her daughter, the Baroness Perenyi, reached safety. Under the same pseudonym the same author has done much the same thing in a novel called "Reprisal". This one is set in France and uses the confused situation that produced the Vichy government as a backdrop, and a German hostage murder as her activiting agent. It's a nice job and a good formula.

Sophia Engstrand has embarked on a fictional social history of America. Her first novel was about a school teacher; her second a librarian and now her "Julie Morrow" goes into the social welfare department. It describes the tangle into which a man was led by the fact that he did not get a certain appointment—that and the additional fact that he was rather an ass part of the time. The welfare department background is unusual in fiction, and so are some of the problems that come to Mrs. Engstrand's characters.

Marguerite Allis wanders a long way from Connecticut in "The Splender Stays," but as usual she starts from that state. From Saybrook, charming village at the mouth of the Connecticut, to be exact. Her novel is founded on the adventures of the seven daughters of Captain Elisha Hart, and particularly on the life of Jeannette, who loved and was loved by Simon Bolivar. It read well.

An attempt to improve the standard of English among the natives is being made in South Africa.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — The boys here who really know what's going on are getting a snicker out of those criticisms against Admiral Darlan's being on our side now.

War experts who are on their toes think that our pre-invasion dealings with the powers that be in North Africa probably saved more than 50,000 American and British lives, not to mention lives saved among the French colonials, and the vast amount of materials and shipping that would have had to be sacrificed if we had pitched into the North African front without an "understanding" with those in power.

President Roosevelt, as Commander-in-chief of the armed forces, already has recognized the vast importance of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's pre-invasion trip into Algeria. In military circles there hasn't been a word of criticism against our taking gold coins into the North African theatre. We have probably done a bit of palm greasing in several other European nations, but just why a few persons should step up and declare this a treason to democracy is a bit of a mystery.

Hitler had his Quisling's scattered all over the conquered nations. How much of his success was due to fifth column activity is impossible to say, but most military experts agree that his armed forces would have been impotent in many theatres without the fifth column.

Yet Hitler's fifth column was just a handful compared to what the United Nations have for the asking. Conservative military leaders here estimate that there are 100,000,000 persons in the occupied territories of Europe who are willing to risk their lives in an all-out uprising against Nazi domination.

In the forefront of this vast army are the Norwegian, Dutch, Belgium and French undergrounds; General Mihailovich's Chetnik army in Yugoslavia; the behind-the-lines guerillas in Russia; the Poles and Czechs and Greeks who are fighting Nazi domination with everything in the book. Perhaps there are millions of these who in their little way are apparently as cooperative with the Axis authorities as Admiral Darlan has been. Perhaps there are other millions who are only waiting until they can see their way clear to throw off the Nazi yoke.

Not to make use of these, and even those others outside the conquered countries who are seeking only future security for themselves and their people, would be one of the greatest strategic errors the United Nations could make.

That, at least, is the opinion of the experts. They also say that for the first time in history the United States is coming of age and playing the European diplomatic game with the same marked deck they have been using over there for centuries. That's why the topflight men are snickering at criticism of our psychological warfare in North Africa. It's the first time we have really won a pot that way and apparently it has been a big one. When the whole story is finally told, the size of our winnings may be ten times what they seem to be now.

At lunch hour yesterday, a special showing of the War Bond stamp film "Lidice," was held at King's Dress Co. The picture stressed the need for full cooperation in the 10 per cent payroll allotment plan. At King's, more than 60 per cent of the employes belong to the plan, and they hope to attain the goal of 90 per cent, which will entitle them to the Treasury Department "T" flag. The photo shows Max Lustberg and a group of workers with Louis Myer from the Coca-Cola Co., who operated the projector.

Good Taste Today

TOBACCO NOT WELCOME TO ALL MEN

Agreeing with a reader's comment, I think it may be very helpful to qualify the general belief that nothing takes the place of a carton of cigarettes as a gift to men in the service.

This reader says: "I wonder if you would be willing to write an article suggesting that the giver find out whether the recipient smokes, before thoughtlessly sending the universal carton of cigarettes? I write this because my son is in the navy and never smokes and practically every organization as well as every individual who wants to be kind, constantly showers him with cigarettes. Since of course he always gives them to others who can use them, they are not wasted; but I am sure he would be grateful if just once he might be given something he himself likes."

In reply to this, I do think one should try to find out, when possible, what individual tastes may be; whether it be a particular brand of cigarettes or whether—as in the case of this man—he prefers hard candy or chewing gum—or whatever else.

Not Necessarily an Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: I know a boy my age—18—and his mother has invited me several times to spend the night at their house. He lives in the next town and has invited me to dances on those occasions. Mother has now refused to let me go again on the grounds that people will think we are engaged. Isn't this ridiculous?

Answer: Of course if he has asked you to every dance that was given and has never invited any other girl, this might seem likely to develop into serious intentions on his part. If your mother disapproves of the boy or of his family or knows them so slightly that she has no idea what they are like, I can see reason in her putting on a brake. But to be worried because people may think you are engaged, seems exaggerated unless as I have said, you are the only girl he ever takes to a dance, and he wants to take you to every dance.

A Problem of the Newly Engaged

Dear Mrs. Post: I have become engaged to a soldier who brought me my ring when he was here on his last leave over a week ago. On his way back to camp he stopped to see his own family and told them about us. I thought they would write to me by now, giving the engagement their blessing and me some welcome. But so far, nothing. Perhaps I am wrong in expecting this; perhaps I should write. Will you tell me?

Answer: Write him you hope the engagement has his family's approval and that you have been expecting a letter from his mother or from someone writing for her, and ask him if he thinks she is waiting to hear from you first.

Are you trying to make plans to be married to a man in the service?

If you are, you'll be glad to know that you can get a reprint of Mrs. Post's recent article "Furlough Wedding Details" if you send your request with a three lope to Mrs. Post in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Station O, Box 150, Times Square Station, New York.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

High school boys and girls shone in all their glory last night at an evening of fun and dancing in the Michael School gymnasium. John Napolean and his band furnished the music for this annual Senior Prom. Leland Boice was general chairman and appointed the various sub-committees. The services of John Napolean and his band were secured through the efforts of Harry Rowland and John McConnell, who comprised the music committee. Leonard Rabin, Jack Pope, Hilda Kinch, Charlotte Cooper, Michael Altamari and Thatcher Wood served on the decorating committee.

The Senior Prom was well publicized by John McLaughlin. He arranged through the art classes of the high school, for posters, which were displayed throughout the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Schmid, Mr. and Mrs. Dumm, Mr. and Mrs. Meagher and Mr. and Mrs. Culver chaperoned the dance.

The Manning Chapter of the National Honor Society, in a brilliant program, inducted 23 students. These selections were made on the basis of service, leadership, character, and scholarship; requirements of the national organization. The 12 "old" members of the society tapped the newcomers in a ceremony in last Monday's assembly. As they escorted the inductees to the stage they were greeted and congratulated by President Donald Schultz and Vice President Charlotte Cooper. The guest speaker, the Rev. Wesley Williams, of St. James Methodist Church, was introduced. He delivered a forceful speech which was appreciated by the students.

The students chosen for membership were: William Arnold, Edwin Burgher, Marilyn Culver, Katherine Kramer, Helen Kruszenski, Rita Lockwood, Harold Matthews, Robert Merritt, Joyce Merrihew, Lester Morton, Leonard Rabin, Thomas Reynolds, Gloria Schantz, Dolores Steltz, Marcia Stone, Carol Summers, Marie Tiedemann, Maureen Troy, George Vogel, Gertrude Winters, Vera Wood, Genevieve Young and Joan Zell. Both old and new members enjoyed themselves at a tea held that afternoon in Hall D. Mrs. McNelis, popular English teacher, poured. The group had a pleasant surprise when Dean Payne of New York University dropped in and shook hands with everybody.

Kingston High School students who tuned in on WKNY last Wednesday heard six K. H. S. bookworms match their wits against each other. William Arnold, Virginia Dowd, Katherine Kramer, Leonard Rabin, Valdo Viglielmo and Joan Zell participated in the mental combat. After discussing Shakespeare, Poe, Hawthorne, and Mother Goose from 4 to 4:30, the contest was over. Miss Harriet St. John, school librarian, who was mistress of ceremonies, announced that the judges had picked Leonard Rabin as winner of the dollar defense stamp prize. The judges included Miss Ethel Hull, Miss Martha Barnett and Mrs. M. McNelis, all English teachers. The quiz was held in connection with National Book Week.

Kingston High students again showed their willingness to aid a worthy cause when they contributed $89 to the Industrial Home collection held Tuesday morning. Although this was below last year's $99 it was a sizable Thanksgiving gift for the children of the Industrial Home. Hall A topped the entire school with almost $7.

The Junior Red Cross, which is to be incorporated into the High School Victory Corps, has been working feverishly for membership during the past two weeks. Their pleas were answered, however, since more than 1,350 students have enrolled. Rooms 152, 150 and 111 claimed 100 per cent enrollment early in the drive. Since then Rooms 106, 108, 159 and Hall G have climbed on the bandwagon. Also, through voluntary contributions more than $13 has been collected. The drive ends with November and by that date, the Junior Red Cross hopes to have achieved 100 per cent membership.

The Camera Club-sponsored "The Cat's Paw" netted almost $45. This movie was presented November 18 to a huge audience. A school service flag is to be purchased with this money. After the Christmas holidays the flag will be presented to the school.

Mussolini Is Ill, Caviglia May Be Put in His Post

Montevideo, Uruguay, Nov. 28 (AP).—Reports from a reliable South African diplomatic source said today that Premier Mussolini was gravely ill and, if he became fully incapacitated, might be succeeded by a government likely to discuss a separate peace for Italy.

(These reports were similar to those of a few days ago from London to the effect that disaffected military leaders in Germany were forming a junkers junta with a view to isolating Hitler and taking control of the government. There is a possibility that all were inspired by Axis leaders in an effort to promote over-confidence among the United Nations.)

The South American source, whose name could not be disclosed, said Mussolini was suffering from stomach ulcers complicated by heart trouble.

Rome observers were said to be discussing Marshal Pietro Caviglia, 80-year-old former minister of war, as a likely successor to the ailing Il Duce.

The source said that advices from abroad indicated that many Italians had been executed for "indifference" to the conduct of the war, and that the belief was spreading that Italy has lost the war "no matter who is going to dictate the peace."

Women 'Spotters' of Kingston Meet Monday

A thorough coaching on definite rules and regulations pertinent to the duties of "spotters" connected with the Aircraft Warning Service of the First Fighter Command will be held on Monday night, 8 o'clock promptly, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

This meeting is arranged especially for the women "spotters" and it will be in charge of Mrs. George D. Logan, associate chief observer of Kingston's Observation Post.

After the rules and regulations pertinent to "spotters" duties will be firmly established, questions pertaining to these regulations will be encouraged and the answers will be given by the visiting directorship consisting of Harry L. Kirchner and Eugene P. MacConnell. Guests of the evening will include Sam N. Mann, chief observer, Robert Rhinehart, associate chief, and Daniel W. Benton.

Mrs. Logan informed women "spotters" of her observation post that they may each invite one woman guest who expresses definitely a desire to associate herself with this service and is willing to serve the Army two hours a week as a "spotter."

Woman Is Killed

London, Nov. 28 (AP)—A single German plane swooped low, and sprayed a building with cannon and machinegun fire on the south coast of England today. One woman was killed.

Grady Is Reported In Fair Condition At Local Hospital

Thomas Grady, 71-year-old resident of the Glenerle section, was reported in apparently fair condition at the Kingston Hospital this morning, having escaped with a laceration over the right eye and abrasions about the face when he walked into a large truck near the top of Glenerie hill, on 9-W, about 8:30 Friday night.

Leonard Inzeo, of The Bronx, driver of a Transportation and Warehouse Corp. truck from Long Island City, said that he was on his way from Albany to New York, driving slowly south on 9-W, when near the top of Glenerie hill he saw a man crossing the road, from the east side. He pulled toward his right and brought his truck to a stop when he heard a "thud." Going back a short distance he found a man lying in the road. A passing motorist notified the sheriff's office and Conner's ambulance took Grady to the Kingston Hospital.

Inzeo told Deputy Sheriff Leonard Belmore, who with Deputy DeWitt Barley made the investigation, that he was driving slowly at the time of the accident, his lights were dim and his helper was on the side of the truck with a flashlight.

War Department Takes City's Snogo

Will Pay City $7,395, Amount It Cost City

The Snogo, purchased by the Board of Public Works in 1941 for the sum of $7,395, was taken over by the War Department this morning, and will be used to remove snow from one of the training camps during the coming winter.

The War Department has agreed to repay the city the amount paid for the machine when it was originally bought. The Snogo was practically new having been used but a short time during the winter of 1941-42 by the city.

Superintendent Max Oppenheimer of the Board of Public Works said today that the loss of the machine would be keenly felt if there was considerable snow this winter due to the lack of labor. The machine, he said, was the only mobile snow loader in the city's fleet of snow removal equipment.

A few months ago a representative of the War Department was in Kingston and inspected the Snogo, which he found in excellent condition. At that time he informed Superintendent Oppenheimer that the War Department planned to take over the machine later in the year.

Designates National Day of Prayer for Victory

With a prayer for "God's mercy on all war suffering people and imploring peace and victory," the Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman, archbishop of New York, has written all pastors in the archdiocese inviting attention to the designation by the archbishops and bishops of the United States of Tuesday, December 8, the feast of the Immaculate Conception, as "a national day of prayer for victory, asking Divine guidance and protection of our soldiers and sailors."

"The Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary," the archbishop wrote, "is the patronal feast of the United States of America and a fitting day on which to implore God's mercy upon the men of our armed forces so nobly defending the principles of our Founding Fathers.

"I know it will be only necessary to suggest to your devoted people that they hear Mass on this feast for the intention of the defenders of our traditions and if possible receive Holy Communion on that day for the same intention.

"Where it is possible to have sufficient adorers, the Blessed Sacrament may be exposed after the last Mass for the remainder of the day closing with special prayers for peace, a sermon and benediction, or a holy hour."

Riozzo-Comstock Case To Be Continued Monday

Testimony was taken Friday in the action brought by Anthony Riozzi, by guardian, and his father, Angelo Riozzi, against Dr. and Mrs. Comstock to recover damages for injuries which young Riozzi received when struck by the Comstock car near the Saugerties school. The young boy suffered a broken leg and it is claimed that there is a permanent shortening of the leg. He spent 20 days in the hospital after the accident and in addition to the claim of the injuries, his father seeks to recover for medical and hospital bills.

When Justice Bergan recessed court until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the case was still in progress, the plaintiff not having concluded his case.

Evacuation Is Asked

Berlin (From German broadcasts), Nov. 28 (AP).—The population of Bangkok, Thailand capital, was requested by radio Saturday to evacuate the town voluntarily because the city is overpopulated and because further air attacks by the British and American air forces must be reckoned with, a dispatch from Thailand said today. (American air forces in India reported this week a heavy raid on the refinery at Bangkok.)

National Legion of Decency Renewal Pledge

Pastors of the New York Archdiocese have been requested in a letter from the Most Rev. J. Francis A. McIntyre, chancellor, to inform their parishioners that within the octave of the Immaculate Conception, they will be asked to make the annual renewal of their pledge of the National Legion of Decency. The pledge, condemning "indecent and immoral motion pictures and those which glorify crime or criminals" continues:

"I promise to do all that I can to strengthen public opinion against the production of indecent and immoral films, and to unite with all those who protest against them.

"I acknowledge my obligation to form a right conscience about pictures that are dangerous to my moral life. As a member of the Legion of Decency, I pledge myself to remain away from them. I promise, further, to stay away altogether from places of amusement which show them as a matter of policy."

Julian Fernandez, of Argentina, has celebrated his 126th birthday and claims to have herded cattle until he was 108.

OFFICE CAT

TRADE MARK REG.

By Junius

In driving, as elsewhere, it's courtesy that makes the big difference. It's civilized manners that make the big difference.

A man pinned underneath his car after an auto accident, was being questioned by a policeman:
Policeman—Are you married?
Man—No. This is the worst fix I was ever in.

These are the days when one likes to recall that a horse would always start on a cold morning.

First Motorist—Aw, what's the matter with you?
Second Motorist—Nothing's the matter with me. Why?
First Motorist—You gave me a nasty look.
Second Motorist—I did not. But now that you mention it, you certainly do have a nasty look.

Motorists should remember that school days are here again and that darkness comes earlier. They should watch out for our boys and girls as they go to and from school. Drive slowly and carefully.

Motorist—It's preposterous, old man. I'm an expert driver. What I know about driving would fill a book.
Constable—And what you don't know would fill a hospital. Give us your name and address, now!

Strong drink never produced a strong nation.

Farmer—I can't afford to sell food for the prices I can get in town.
Man—Why don't you move to town?
Farmer—Then I couldn't afford to buy it.

Don't let your coins accumulate. Turn them in for war stamps as often as you can. In other words—don't heighten the metal shortage.

Girl—Mother objects to you, Karl, because you have to work for a living.
Young Man—It's all right now, dear, I've lost my job.

Wise Girl!

Mary has a little change,
Of it she is quite fond;
She spends her nickels all for stamps,
And soon will have a bond.

Wife—Why women have been famous for ages!
Husband—Yes, I know—untold ages.

The world must pray for a short war and plan for a long one.

Editor—Do you act toward your wife as you did before you married her?
Man—Exactly. I remember how I used to act when I first fell in love. I used to stand at front and look at her house, almost afraid to go in. Now I do the same thing some nights.

A school girl was urged by her teacher to do her home work. The next day her teacher received the following reply from the child's mother:
"Dear Miss: My granmaw didn't know no geography and she got her man. My maw didn't know no geography and she got her man. I don't know no geogrophy and I got my man. You know your geography and you ain't got no man."

Small Boy—Dad, what is meant by "the bone of contention?"
Dad—The jawbone, son!

Better be up on your toes than down at the heels.

Young Man—What's harder than buying a present for a girl who has everything?
Friend—Buying one for a girl who wants everything.

Johannesburg, South Africa, has decided that slit trenches are better protection than concrete air raid shelters.

Gwen Anderson's Story Is Sort That Dazzles Actresses

By JEAN MEEGAN

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Gwen Anderson's story is the kind of fame-over-night catapulting to success that brings hordes of glory-struck actresses to Broadway:

She came to New York for the first time in her life;

She got a starring job—the title role of "Janie"—from the first producer she saw.

It doesn't happen often. Just often enough to keep alive the legend that sometimes it does.

Some of the answers lies in the fact that she is a natural for the part, 21 years old herself, and it's no job at all to remember how she behaved when she was 17 and give a spirited imitation of it every night in Janie. Even off the stage it is hard to tell where Janies leaves off and Gwen begins.

Some of the answer, too, may be that Brock Pemperton knows talent. He gave Ruth Chatterton, Miriam Hopkins, and Margaret Sullivan their respective starts. He was looking around for a new face for his new part when she walked into his office.

Anyway, Gwen Anderson is in New York city for the first time and she loves it. "It's exactly what I expected, the buildings, the strange noises, so many things to do."

Miss Anderson reached Broadway via the scenic route. She was born and still spends her summers in Des Moines, Ia., but left there for the Pasadena playhouse three years ago. She got her diploma from that institution and headed east for serious work. She struck it rich.

Gwen's idea of a big afternoon is to browse around one of the famous museums. But she will go to a football game with equal enthusiasm.

With her mother, Mrs. Leone Anderson, she occupies a wee bit of a furnished apartment in West Fifty-fifth street and there she gives small parties. Also she goes only to small parties. She affects no nonsense about wanting to be domestic and cook. She doesn't like to and she doesn't want to.

Badly misguided on the subject of clothes, she arrived from California dressed in the flamboyant style known as "theatrical." A gentle word of advice from Pemberton changed all that. Now she dresses just as any girl her age would—just as Janie does.

Although not a movie fan, Gwen pops into movies when she can. She ice skates a couple of times a week with Betty Breckenridge, also from the cast of "Janie," and she rides horseback intermittently.

"It's a little corny," Miss Anderson apologizes, "but I think if you wish long enough for anything it comes true." That was the first line she ever spoke from the stage. It was in the Children's Theatre in Des Moines when she was seven years old. It turned out to be the story of her life.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Confused Cops

Monroe, La.—Alexandria police telephoned officers here the description of a car driven by a man with one leg and asked that the man be arrested.

Shortly, the local officers spotted a car answering the description, but there were four occupants. The driver had only one leg—but so did the other three. The officers arrested all four pending further identification.

A-1 Problem

Kansas City—The Kansas City Star wanted to emphasize the troubles househunters were having. So it took an actual case, but identified the weary hunter merely as Mr. A.

Mr. A. then set out for another day of house hunting—and found a vacancy.

"But I won't rent it to you," the landlord said. "I read about this Mr. A in the newspaper and I'm gonna save it for him."

After some argument, Mr. A. moved in.

Sea Food

Bandon, Ore. — Don Stryker is heading back to the seashore to see if he can't find a sack of sugar.

On his last trip there he picked up a package he thinks was from the schooner, Susan Olson, which sank recently during a storm.

In the package was a tightly sealed two-pound can of coffee.

Curses!

Denver—Denver University's all-girl pep organization, the Parakeets, pranced out for its half-time stunt at the Colorado game.

The object was to spell out "hello."

But the "O's" became confused and lined up first.

Too Old Too Late

Chicago — Elmer F. Stevens wasn't sure but thought his age was 42 when he registered for the draft. After his induction he learned he was 51 from records of his honorable discharge from the first World War army.

Stevens obtained a writ of habeas corpus to free him from service, but federal judge William J. Campbell, dissolving the writ, ruled that Stevens must remain in the army because he had not corrected the mistake within the 10-day limit prescribed by law.

November Milk Price Estimated at $3.26

The third straight record-setting milk price was in sight today when Charles J. Blanford, administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, estimated that dairy farmers of the six states of the New York milkshed will collect for their November deliveries at the uniform rate of $3.26 a hundredweight (46.51 quarts).

The administrator likewise forecasts that November receipts will weigh approximately 400,000,000 pounds and will fall below last November's volume by 3.6 per cent.

The estimated rate of return tops the previous peaks by $2.90 for September and $3.01 for October milk. November 1941's rate of $2.82, the record high price determined according to the federal-state marketing orders up to this September, will be outdistanced by 44 cents, or 15.6 per cent, if the estimated price is confirmed next month.

"Estimates of price production," Dr. Blanford reported, "indicate that the pool should produce a farm value of at least $13,840,000, counting in the value of the extra butterfat and location payments. The November, 1941 pool, which contained 414,821,897 pounds, yielded a return of $12,499,562.75 on exactly the same basis.

"According to our forecasts, the margin of gain which can be credited to the current pool amounts to nearly $1,340,000. The increase in value probably will run slightly above 10 per cent.

Mexico is mining more coal than a year ago.

FORGOTTEN AND NEGLECTED

"Every two minutes someone's home is attacked by fire," W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, said recently. Two-thirds of our fire deaths occur in homes and thirty per cent of these fatalities are children under ten years of ago. What a tragic commentary on American carelessness!

Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property and thousands of innocent lives go up in smoke every year, and the best excuse is usually, "I forgot." "I forgot" to close the damper; "I forgot" to turn off the heater, or "I forgot" to put up the fireplace screen.

Next to the "I forgot" excuse is the "I neglected" one. This excuse applies to hundreds of fire hazards; accumulated scrap, dirty or cracked flues, poor insulation, faulty wiring. Other fire hazards are due to improper construction. Strict adherence to building codes are the best guards against these.

Practically all fires could be prevented. The fire insurance industry spends much time and money annually trying to educate the citizens to be fire conscious. If these efforts are to be measurably successful, the citizen must exhibit a willingness to learn. Communities without effective fire departments and efficient fire marshals are living on borrowed time. Even with such protection, fire prevention is meaningless unless the individual realizes the horror of fire, and neither "forgets" nor "neglects" to take every possible step to protect himself and his loved ones.

HOARDING

The "panic buying" in this country is a shameful thing. It means that many people, in a time of national danger, are trying to take advantage of their friends and neighbors. Thereby they spread fear and threaten inflation.

Self-interest as well as sportsmanship should check this sort of thing. Common sense should check it. The more grabbing and hoarding there is, the worse the general situation will be, and the more drastic and troublesome methods will have to be taken to stop it.

Shipwrecked people don't do this. They share alike, without fighting over the provisions.

Anyway, in this richest and best provisioned country in the world there is no serious scarcity. Everybody can be fed and clothed if other people are decent about it.

We can all be rationed for a hundred things, and will be, if the grabbers and hoarders go much farther. But it would be so much decent and safe if everybody would buy only as much as he really needs, of things that are scarce.

The British people, who are far worse off than we are about provisions and comforts, stopped all this selfishness long ago.

HUMBLE FRIENDS

Speaking of the prestige which American power and friendliness are now winning throughout the world, there is the story told about the reception of the first marines who landed on the Solomon Islands to oust the Japanese. The natives were gathered on the beach to welcome them. And the first words uttered on that historic occasion were those of their chief: "Americans! Me American too!"

All the natives in those far-flung islands of the Pacific seem to be good Americans now, just as the Africans are, regardless of tribal organization or official allegiance. They have no fear of us. They welcome us as big brothers and are ready to cooperate with us. They will stand with us against the Japanese or any other aggressors, as long as we continue to give them a square deal and to recognize, despite their reputed barbarism, that "a man's a man, for a' that."

NOMURA WAKES UP

At last the Japs begin to realize that they must take Uncle Sam seriously. The light-hearted confidence they formerly showed is gone, among their responsible leaders. It is interesting to have this change of sentiment revealed by no less a person than Admiral Nomura. He was ambassador at Washington when the Pacific war started, and one of the powerful group that underestimated and betrayed the United States. He is quoted now by a German news agency as follows:

He regrets that many Japanese have been prone to regard the whole situation as very simple, and to reckon on an easily won victory. "This is a war," he insists, " on which the nation's existence depends, one which can only be won by the greatest possible faith in victory. One should never rely on the enemy not coming, but should be prepared for his coming."

So the little men have discovered that Uncle Sam really packs a wallop. So far, so good. But they will need more than faith to win. And they haven't seen anything yet.

YOUNGEST GENERAL

The youngest lieutenant-general in our history has just been created in the person of Mark Clark, one of the outstanding heroes of our North African campaign. He is just 46.

In the last war, generals in their 60's and 70's were not uncommon. The Germans even had one aged 81: General Von Haeseler, who fought at Verdun.

Hitler has changed all that. Present-day strategy and tactics are so different from those conceived before the war that the utmost openmindedness on the part of military leaders is necessary. While there are open-minded men in middle life and later, advancing age too often hardens the mental arteries. Stuffed-shirtedness, too, is apt to intensify with the years. Hitler's generals are mostly young men. The British, too, felt the need of reducing the age of their commanders. Leslie Hore-Belisha, the energetic head of the War Office a few years ago, got in young men right and left. This forehandedness probably saved England's bacon in 1940.

Now we are following. It is a wise practice.

Those lads who lately seemed so shiftless and irresponsible are now winning the war for us.

There seem to be always shortages of everything, but we go ahead just the same.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

ELECTRO-SHOCK TREATMENT

It is known that under routine treatment in mental hospitals about 6 of every 10 patients who enter are able to return to home or business. It is because this routine or hospital treatment is so successful that many families hesitate to have their loved ones undergo the shock treatment by insulin or metrazol, they keep hoping that a cure may be affected without shock treatment.

It is, however, mostly in cases that are not improving under the regular treatment that the shock method is used, and also to shorten the stay in hospital of certain cases.

Why do patients and families object to the shock treatment? While most patients come through the shock treatment without accident, there are others where the violence of the convulsions caused by insulin or metrazol produces injuries such as a dislocation of a joint or a broken bone. Naturally neither patient nor family like the idea of undergoing more of these treatments.

I have spoken before of the use of electricity to produce shock in mental patients. As this method does not cause such severe convulsions and is not feared by patient or family, it is being tried out in various institutions.

To prevent damage to muscles and bones by electric shock, Dr. Prior Shelton, Kansas City, Mo., in The Journal of the Missouri Medical Association suggests the use of the drug curare before the treatment is given. Dr. Shelton reports 456 electric shock treatments given in 67 patients with satisfactory results. These 67 patients were first put under the influence of curare.

The three advantages of this method over shock by insulin or metrazol are (a) it does not require injection into the veins, which is dreaded by some patients, (b) the convulsion by electricity is less severe than that resulting from metrazol, (c) although some fractures and dislocations have resulted from electro-shock treatment, the percentage of cases is much lower than when metrazol is used. The use of curare before the shock treatment is given not only to reduce the percentage of accidents but to make use of restraints and mouth gags necessary.

It can be readily seen then why patient and family will be more willing to undergo shock by electricity than by metrazol.

PARISH MERGERS URGED

Merger of parishes because of a reduced membership resulting from the birth rate failing to keep pace with losses by death and migration is advocated by the Rev. T. A. Harvey, Bishop of Cashel and Waterford, in a report issued to the parish meeting at Cashel, Eire. The low birth rate was attributed to late marriages. During 10 years Protestants of the area have lost a quarter of their young population, Bishop Harvey said.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

With four of its charter members as guests of honor Weiner Hose Company on Thursday evening, April 19, 1928, celebrated the golden jubilee of the company with a banquet and dance at the Golden Rule Inn.

The four charter members who were still living and who were honored that night were Roswell Saulpaugh, Charles B. Stow, Joseph J. Tubby and William S. Campbell.

The fire company was organized in 1878 as the Franklin Hose Company, No. 6, and in 1884, the name was changed to the Ike & Dick Hose Company, in honor of Isaac and Richard Weiner. In 1885, a year later, the name was changed to the Weiner Hose Company, No. 6.

At the jubilee banquet Louis H. Kolts, president of the Kingston Board of Fire Commissioners and a member of Weiner Hose, presided as toastmaster, and addresses were delivered by Mayor E. J. Dempsey and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

During the serving of the banquet Paul Zucca led the diners in singing popular and old time song hits, while his orchestra furnished the music for dancing.

It is interesting to recall that the 18 charter members of the fire company were William S. Campbell, William T. Fisher, Johannas Hausenflough, Hubert Heaney, Augustus Heaney, Daniel Heaney, Charles Klein, John T. Meader, Milford B. Myers, Elias Myers, George Palmer, Eugene Pelham, Roswell Saulpaugh, Charles B. Stow, James Tripp, Robert Tubby, Joseph J. Tubby and George Weber.

At the time of the jubilee celebration the men serving Weiner Hose as its officers were: Joseph Disch, Sr., president; foreman, Henry Ulrich, first assistant foreman, Robert Dennis; second assistant foreman, Kenneth Haines; secretary, Lee Gregory; treasurer, George Canfield; trustees, John Heaney, Frank Palisi, Charles Gassen, Floyd Weiss and Fred Scholl.

Older readers will recall Ike and Dick Weiner, who, for years, were prominent residents of Kingston. I recall that Ike Weiner for years conducted a retail and wholesale liquor store on lower Hasbrouck avenue.

In later years he opened the Weiner Hotel in the building now occupied by the Kingston Trust Company branch on central Broadway, at Dederick street. The hotel was operated for some years before it finally closed its doors.

Later the former hotel was bought by the Kingston Trust Co. and the lower floor used as a branch bank.

'Platform of Protest' Might Engender Rebellious Spirit in Congress as New Members Take Office

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 23—There's an unhealthy mood developing in the national capital, with a spirit of rebellious controversy back of it. All the wisdom and forbearance of mature men will be needed to keep this friction from hurting the war effort.

Basically, the trouble lies in the fact that the nation elected a large number of new members of Congress on a platform of protest. That protest is not only going unheeded but it looks as if the very men who were complained of by the people from their maladministration are to be kept in office or elevated to other posts of responsibility.

The latest news, for instance, is that the President may reorganize his cabinet, but the names mentioned are from the same coterie of New Dealers who have been associated with his administration from the beginning. On capitol hill, they are saying that if the President does not know the meaning of the latest election, then Congress will have to insist on telling him by concrete acts of refusal to do his bidding.

This is an unfortunate state of affairs. It is regrettable. For the nation will pay for the stubbornness and bitterness being engendered. The President has it in his power to bring about a different spirit and a different mood. He has more authority than any other man in this nation's history ever had. He has the confidence of many people in the Republican party as well as in his own party. On the broad issues of foreign policy, he has won bi-partisan support before and he can do so again. But on his insistence that the New Deal must go on and that the New Dealers are the only persons competent to manage the big economic jobs of the war in his cabinet, he is unfortunately stirring up controversy. He is paying little heed to what the members of Congress are saying.

Take, for instance, rationing. Congress receives complaints from constituents. Instead of everybody working together on rationing problems, many groups are at cross-purposes. The very people who should be urging the people to accept restrictive measures are pushed around. America's most successful men in the management class find themselves embarrassed because their salaries are reduced below pre-war levels, while the income of other groups is substantially increased above pre-war levels.

The administration, instead of working out a fair formula, allows radicals with a punitive point of view to sit in high places and write regulations that merely increase the sum total of controversy and resentment. The President listens to the New Dealers and their socialistic viewpoint and does not hesitate to allow them to use war powers to put over their socialistic schemes of income control.

Maybe there's a sadistic joy somewhere in officialdom in carrying on their class feuds during wartime, but it is difficult for the disinterested observer to see what constructive purpose is served thereby.

It is a matter of deep disappointment to read that the President has been told by organized labor just whom he should appoint to take charge of the manpower problem and who should be denied such a job. It is even more disconcerting to read that Mr. Roosevelt is considering a reshuffling of his cabinet based on his desire to offend cabinet members who have already outstayed their welcome with the American people but who still qualify in the President's mind, apparently, as the most capable and efficient persons for these portfolios that the Democratic party or any other party can produce in the midst of the gravest crisis in history.

If any commanding general or admiral chose his staff on the same basis that Mr. Roosevelt chooses or retains his cabinet members, the war would surely be lost. Yet with enormous responsibilities of a civilian nature related to the war, the President doesn't seem to realize as yet that the people in the last elections showed they were fed up with the administrators he has chosen. It's a bitter pill for any man to swallow his pride and admit error. But the men who can do it are the big men in history. They are the men who disassociate their pride from the equation and make decisions solely on the basis of what will benefit their fellow men.

A new spirit is needed in Washington—at the White House, on capitol hill, and inside the government bureaus and departments. It is a spirit of reconciliation, a spirit that puts aside selfishness of all kind and applies the lessons not of theoretical but of practical every-day Christianity. Something of this spirit must soon enter Washington life or the rebellion that is starting on capitol hill will grow to a bitter climax by the first of the year, when the new Congress comes here.

Literary Guide

Some fall fiction—

Thanksgiving week is always the lowest ebb of the fall in fiction, at least in a quantitative sense. But still there are some books about.

There is a very good mystery collection to be had in "The Fourth Mystery Book," for example, notable for two reasons. One is the range of the stories—drawing room to the boys who talk out of the left third of their months. The other is the fact that none of the six books thus assembled has ever appeared between boards. All that remains is to list the authors, and here they are: Mary Roberts Rhinehart, Mignon G. Eberhart, Philip Wylie, Hugh Pentecost, Dana Lyon and Q. Patrick. Five you know—Dana Lyon you quite likely will know better.

Most of us remember "Escape," one of the best suspense novels using the turbulent background of latter-day Europe. It was written by Ethel Vance, who revealed herself as Grace Zaring Stone as soon as her daughter, the Baroness Perenyi, reached safety. Under the same pseudonym the same author has done much the same thing in a novel called "Reprisal". This one is set in France and uses the confused situation that produced the Vichy government as a backdrop, and a German hostage murder as her activiting agent. It's a nice job and a good formula.

Sophia Engstrand has embarked on a fictional social history of America. Her first novel was about a school teacher; her second a librarian and now her "Julie Morrow" goes into the social welfare department. It describes the tangle into which a man was led by the fact that he did not get a certain appointment —that and the additional fact that he was rather an ass part of the time. The welfare department background is unusual in fiction, and so are some of the problems that come to Mrs. Engstrand's characters.

Marguerite Allis wanders a long way from Connecticut in "The Splendor Stays," but as usual she starts from that state. From Saybrook, charming village at the mouth of the Connecticut, to be exact. Her novel is founded on the adventures of the seven daughters of Captain Elisha Hart, and particularly on the life of Jeannette, who loved and was loved by Simon Bolivar. It read well.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — The boys here who really know what's going on are getting a snicker out of those criticisms against Admiral Darlan's being on our side now.

War experts who are on their toes think that our pre-invasion dealings with the powers that be in North Africa probably saved more than 50,000 American and British lives, not to mention lives saved among the French colonials, and the vast amount of materials and shipping that would have had to be sacrificed if we had pitched into the North African front without an "understanding" with those in power.

President Roosevelt, as Commander-in-chief of the armed forces, already has recognized the vast importance of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's pre-invasion trip into Algeria. In military circles there hasn't been a word of criticism against our taking gold coins into the North African theatre. We have probably done a bit of palm greasing in several other European nations, but just why a few persons should step up and declare this a treason to democracy is a bit of a mystery.

Hitler had his Quisling's scattered all over the conquered nations. How much of this success was due to fifth column activity is impossible to say, but most military experts agree that his armed forces would have been impotent in many theatres without the fifth column.

Yet Hitler's fifth column was just a handful compared to what the United Nations have for the asking. Conservative military leaders here estimate that there are 100,000,000 persons in the occupied territories of Europe who are willing to risk their lives in an all-out uprising against Nazi domination.

In the forefront of this vast army are the Norwegian, Dutch, Belgium and French undergrounds; General Mihailovich's Chetnik army in Yugoslavia; the behind-the-lines guerillas in Russia; the Poles and Czechs and Greeks who are fighting Nazi domination with everything in the book. Perhaps there are millions of these who in their little way are apparently as cooperative with the Axis authorities as Admiral Darlan has been. Perhaps there are other millions who are only waiting until they can see their way clear to throw off the Nazi yoke.

Not to make use of these, and even those others outside the conquered countries who are seeking only future security for themselves and their people, would be one of the greatest strategic errors the United Nations could make.

That, at least, is the opinion of the experts. They also say that for the first time in history the United States is coming of age and playing the European diplomatic game with the same marked deck they have been using over there for centuries. That's why the topflight men are snickering at criticism of our psychological warfare in North Africa. It's the first time we have really won a pot that way and apparently it has been a big one. When the whole story is finally told, the size of our winnings may be ten times what they seem to be now.

Group in Congress Would Go All-Out to Oust Henderson

for "several of the bureaucrats to resign."

Other members of the committee explained that it would be a simple matter to bring about Henderson's resignation by writing into the O. P. A. supply bill a provision that none of the funds be expended so long as Henderson was in charge.

Some members went so far as to suggest that O. P. A. be abolished entirely and its functions turned over to James Byrnes, economic stabilization director.

From influential Republicans came predictions that one of the first things the strengthened minority would demand when the new Congress convenes would be a complete investigation of O. P. A.

The congressional protests, voiced in the House late yesterday, were spearheaded by a group of Democrats, who applauded the suggestion of Representative Cox (D.-Ga.) that Congress "should put the bureaucrats on record now" that "their regime is going to end."

Major General Austin Dies in Manhattan

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Major General Elmore Farrington Austin, 78, New York National Guard officer between 1894 and 1930 who saw service in the Spanish-American and first World Wars, died yesterday at Post Graduate Hospital. General Austin was born in Kingston, N. Y., and in private life had served as an executive of the park department. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Cora B. Glover Austin, and a grandson, John Adams Austin, Jr.

Liverpool cathedral now has Britain's largest church organ, it having 17,000 pipes and 208 stops.

Large Increases In Retail Stores During October

Albany, Nov. 27—Retail stores in the state reported quite large seasonal gains in their forces and payrolls from the middle of September to the middle of October. Increases amounted to 5.7 per cent in employment and 5.1 per cent in payrolls. According to a statement issued today by Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller, these gains were almost twice as large as the average gains reported in the same period of the last eight years. However, the increases this October followed somewhat smaller than usual seasonal gains during September of this year. In those sections of the state where a great amount of war production is in progress, many of the variety, 5 and 10-to-a-dollar stores, and department stores were employing record-size forces this fall. But the gains in these stores offset only part of the losses in those lines of retail trade affected by government restrictions, freezing orders, etc. Compared with the level of employment and payrolls last October, retail stores employ 2.2 per cent smaller forces during this October but they paid out 0.4 per cent more in total amount of payroll. These figures are based on reports from 8,432 retail stores in all parts of the state. The reports are collected and analyzed in the Division of Statistics and Information, under the direction of Dr. E. B. Patton. Beginning with September to October figures, reports from almost a thousand restaurants and eating places are no longer included in the tabulations.

Wholesale dealers in the state reported a further small loss of two-tenths of 1 per cent in employment and a gain of 1.6 per cent in total payrolls from September to October. Average changes reported in the same period of the last eight years amounted to gains of less than 1 per cent in both forces and payrolls. Reports from 2,732 wholesale firms throughout the state form the basis for these figures. These firms employed 9.5 per cent smaller forces this October than last October and they paid out 2.6 per cent less in total wages, salaries and commissions.

Blame New Deal For the Condition Of Dairy Industry

Republican Congressmen From New York Point to Agriculture, Labor, Selective Service

By L. B. SHUBERT

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—New York Republican congressmen, concerned over the imminence of the rationing of dairy products, lay the blame at the door of the administration's policies on agriculture, labor and selective service.

Rep. Wadsworth said he was not "surprised" at the present situation, adding the administration "miscalculated" in setting up objectives for the dairy industry.

"The industry itself lined up for the future," Wadsworth asserted in an interview "but in the last summer and autumn everything has changed because of the labor situation."

He said he believed the estimates as to lend-lease requirements were accurate at the time they were made 18 months ago, "but future demands perhaps should have been taken into consideration."

"I do know, however," he continued, "that the whole dairy industry is threatened. Labor is being sucked away from it and the farmers are auctioning off their cattle. They cannot get the labor and many are being compelled against their wishes to go out of business."

Wadsworth said he "assumed" President Roosevelt was aware of the situation, adding the Chief Executive "last winter discouraged efforts to get price ceiling on wages," while recently asking for them.

"Farmers don't know anything about a 40-hour week," he concluded.

Rep. Cole declared "failure to foresee the shortage of farm labor and to take counter-steps is responsible for the condition we now have."

"Obviously," he said, "the New Deal's policies in agriculture are beginning to catch up with it. Agriculture itself will have to pay the penalty for these shortcomings."

As to requirements of dairy products abroad, Cole said "if the needs have been greater than have been anticipated, our government should have forseen this."

Rep. Reed, likewise, attributed the shortage and threatened rationing to administration policies.

"The New Deal," he said, "has been arrogant and insulting when the dairy farmer has asked for deferment. The administration has granted scarcity and now is trying to ration it. Those of us from the dairy districts have tried to see to it that we have not been stripped of labor. In this time of war the government should have urged that the farmer produce more of everything."

Reed urged "farm labor be deferred from army service to prevent the slaughter of cattle for which there is no fodder."

Rep. Edwin A. Hall urged there be some "good definition of the selective service program." In its operation he said he saw some of the reasons why farm labor may be moving into industry and into the armed services.

"The operation of the program," he commented, "has been left to local groups, and in them rests the decision whether 'teen age boys should go to war or stay on the farm. Lewis Hershey, selective service director, in his speeches, tells boards what they shall do. The speeches give out as gospel truth what he says at the time, but no part of the speech ever seems to go to a board in the form of an order."

At the same time these congressional opinions were given, government sources said that as in the case of meat, the demand for milk and dairy products has risen because of increased earning power among the nation's workers. All this is in addition to lend-lease and armed service demands.

In an effort to meet demands the agriculture department planned an experimental program for recruiting farm workers. A preliminary estimate was that the agriculture labor shortage for 1943 would reach 1,500,000, if the present military induction and industrial employment demands continue.

At any rate, with rationing of cheese, butter and milk more than a possibility, it was interesting to note that in New York city alone in the year before the United States entered the war, there were consumed 257,000,000 pounds of butter, 74,000,000 pounds of cheese and more than one and one-half billion quarts of milk and cream.

The picture stressed the need for full cooperation in the 10 per cent payroll allotment plan. At King's, more than 60 per cent of the employes belong to the plan, and they hope to attain the goal of 90 per cent, which will entitle them to the Treasury Department "T" flag. The photo shows Max Lustberg and a group of workers with Louis Myer from the Coca-Cola Co., who operated the projector.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

TOBACCO NOT WELCOME TO ALL MEN

Agreeing with a reader's comment, I think it may be very helpful to qualify the general belief that nothing takes the place of a carton of cigarettes as a gift to men in the service.

This reader says: "I wonder if you would be willing to write an article suggesting that the giver find out whether the recipient smokes, before thoughtlessly sending the universal carton of cigarettes? I write this because my son is in the navy and never smokes and practically every organization as well as every individual who wants to be kind, constantly showers him with cigarettes. Since of course he always gives them to others who can use them, they are not wasted; but I am sure he would be grateful if just once he might be given something he himself likes."

In reply to this, I do think one should try to find out, when possible, what individual tastes may be; whether it be a particular brand of cigarettes or whether—as in the case of this man—he prefers hard candy or chewing gum—or whatever else.

Not Necessarily an Engagement

Dear Mrs. Post: I know a boy my age—18—and his mother has invited me several times to spend the night at their house. He lives in the next town and has invited me to dances on those occasions. Mother has now refused to let me go again on the grounds that people will think we are engaged. Isn't this ridiculous?

Answer: Of course if he has asked you to every dance that was given and has never invited any other girl, this might seem likely to develop into serious intentions on his part. If your mother disapproves of the boy or of his family or knows them so slightly that she has no idea what they are like, I can see reason in her putting on a brake. But to be worried because people may think you are engaged, seems exaggerated unless as I have said, you are the only girl he ever takes to a dance, and he wants to take you to every dance.

A Problem of the Newly Engaged

Dear Mrs. Post: I have become engaged to a soldier who brought me my ring when he was here on his last leave over a week ago. On his way back to camp he stopped to see his own family and told them about us. I thought they would write to me by now, giving the engagement their blessing and me some welcome. But so far, nothing. Perhaps I am wrong in expecting this; perhaps I should write. Will you tell me?

Answer: Write him you hope the engagement has his family's approval and that you have been expecting a letter from his mother or from someone writing for her, and ask him if he thinks she is waiting to hear from you first.

Are you trying to make plans to be married to a man in the service?

If you are, you'll be glad to know that you can get a reprint of Mrs. Post's recent article "Furlough Wedding Details" if you send your request with a three [illegible] lope to Mrs. Post in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Station O, Box 150, Times Square Station, New York.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

High school boys and girls shone in all their glory last night at an evening of fun and dancing in the Michael School gymnasium, John Napolean and his band furnished the music for this annual Senior Prom. Leland Boice was general chairman and appointed the various sub-committees. The services of John Napolean and his band were secured through the efforts of Harry Rowland and John McConnell, who comprised the music committee. Leonard Rabin, Jack Pope, Hilda Kinch, Charlotte Cooper, Michael Altamari and Thatcher Wood served on the decorating committee.

The Senior Prom was well publicized by John McLaughlin. He arranged through the art classes of the high school, for posters, which were displayed throughout the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Schmid, Mr. and Mrs. Dunm, Mr. and Mrs. Meagher and Mr. and Mrs. Culver chaperoned the dance.

The Manning Chapter of the National Honor Society, in a brilliant program, inducted 23 students. These selections were made on the basis of service, leadership, character, and scholarship; requirements of the national organization. The 12 "old" members of the society tapped the newcomers in a ceremony in last Monday's assembly. As they escorted the inductees to the stage they were greeted and congratulated by President Donald Schultz and Vice President Charlotte Cooper. The guest speaker, the Rev. Wesley Williams, of St. James Methodist Church, was introduced. He delivered a forceful speech which was appreciated by the students.

The students chosen for membership were: William Arnold, Edwin Burgher, Marilyn Culver, Katherine Kramer, Helen Kruszenski, Rita Lockwood, Harold Matthews, Robert Merritt, Joyce Merrihew, Lester Morton, Leonard Rabin, Thomas Reynolds, Gloria Schantz, Dolores Steltz, Marcia Stone, Carol Summers, Marie Tiedemann, Maureen Troy, George Vogel, Gertrude Winters, Vera Wood, Genevieve Young and Joan Zell. Both old and new members enjoyed themselves at a tea held that afternoon in Hall D. Mrs. McNelis, popular English teacher, poured. The group had a pleasant surprise when Dean Payne of New York University dropped in and shook hands with everybody.

Kingston High School students who tuned in on WKNY last Wednesday heard six K. H. S. bookworms match their wits against each other. William Arnold, Virginia Dowd, Katherine Kramer, Leonard Rabin, Valdo Viglielmo and Joan Zell participated in the mental combat. After discussing Shakespeare, Poe, Hawthorne, and Mother Goose from 4 to 4:30, the contest was over. Miss Harriet St. John, school librarian, who was mistress of ceremonies, announced that the judges had picked Leonard Rabin as winner of the dollar defense stamp prize. The judges included Miss Ethel Hull, Miss Martha Barnett and Mrs. M. McNelis, all English teachers. The quiz was held in connection with National Book Week.

Kingston High students again showed their willingness to aid a worthy cause when they contributed $89 to the Industrial Home collection held Tuesday morning. Although this was below last year's $99 it was a sizable Thanksgiving gift for the children of the Industrial Home. Hall A topped the entire school with almost $7.

The Junior Red Cross, which is to be incorporated into the High School Victory Corps, has been working feverishly for membership during the past two weeks. Their pleas were answered, however, since more than 1,350 students have enrolled. Rooms 152, 150 and 111 claimed 100 per cent enrollment early in the drive. Since then Rooms 106, 108, 159 and Hall G have climbed on the bandwagon. Also, through voluntary contributions more than $13 has been collected. The drive ends with November and by that date, the Junior Red Cross hopes to have achieved 100 per cent membership.

The Camera Club-sponsored "The Cat's Paw" netted almost $45. This movie was presented November 18 to a huge audience. A school service flag is to be purchased with this money. After the Christmas holidays the flag will be presented to the school.

Recs Point to West Point Game for Wednesday, December 9

Club Officials Out To Build Up S.R.O. Throng for Benefit

Local War Plants Waging Contest on the Tickets; U. S. O. Will Receive Money From Game

While the Kingston Recreations are marking time until next Wednesday's clash with the strong Harlem Yankees, "Turk" Karam's quintet also is pointing to Wednesday, December 9, when Master Sergt. James M. McCabe brings the Field Artillery Detachment of the United States Military Academy at West Point to the municipal auditorium.

To date this is the big game of the campaign for the local professional cagers. In one sense, the U.S.O. angle, the game stands at the head; in the other the contest itself will undoubtedly furnish some of the best opposition the Recs will engage this year.

Other Service Games

Of course, this is just one of many service games that the Recreations will book for the 1942-1943 campaign. Other games with army camps throughout the eastern seaboard will be listed from time to time. But this, being the first, Rec officials and backers, hope to fill the auditorium to capacity. The U.S.O. will benefit from this engagement.

In connection with this battle, local war plants in this city are waging a contest to determine what company sells the most tickets for the game. The Electrol, Hercules, Hiltebrants and Island Dock workers have started their selling plan and from this source alone, everything points to an S.R.O. crowd December 9 at the Broadway boards.

With the Recreations winning their first two games from the Hartford Gems and the New York Jewels, local fans are satisfied that this edition of the club can win games the hard way as was demonstrated last Thursday night when the Recs turned back the Jewels in a quick-ending last period rush of baskets. By the time the West Point club gets here Kingston will have played three games and the Pointers should find the locals in readiness.

Of course, Manager "Turk" Karam will go with his regular players including Howie Bollerman, Ace Goldstein, Hagen Anderson, Herb Gershon, Nick Shaback, Irv Rosen and Jimmy Naughton. Even without Shaback this week the Recs were able to humble the fast-stepping Jewels. With Nick in the lineup and teaming with Gerhson, Kingston should be able to hand the outstanding West Point team in good style.

All-American on Squad

However, Sergeant McCabe's quintet will prove plenty strong for Karam's outfit. Besides Captain H. H. Gist, former All-American at West Virginia, the Field Artillery team will have a host of other veteran basketball players who have either made their mark in college or high school competition.

Captain Gist is slated to play at one of the forward berths along with either Dick Gelman, ex-all-Westchester City forward; George Gray, Croton-on-Hudson High School star; or Pat Tortorello, former New Jersey all-state forward. Gist and Gray are six footers.

Another lanky basketeer may start at center in the person of Georgie Snow who played on the Rockland City championship club in 1941. The other center is Godfrey Casaella, a member of St. Mary's Club in Jersey City, N. J. Both are fine players and should give Howie Bollerman plenty of work December 9.

The West Point club lists three capable players at the guard slots. The first and possibly the one who will be held in the highest regard is Lew Panzanaro, a six-footer who was one of the Peekskill Big Five. Panzanaro has played against the Olsen Swedes, House of David, Kate Smith's Celtics and a number of other top-notch cage clubs. Another guard is Charlie Adanaski, who received his athletic letter from the U. S. Army in the Hawaiian Islands in 1939. Frankie Friedman rounds out the squad. Friedman is a former Yorktown Heights High School star who later was chosen on the all-star league team.

With this batch of material plus the regular Recreation roster, district and local fans will be in for a good night of basketball Wednesday, December 9. Recreation officials are going all-out in attempts to pack one of the biggest crowds ever to attend any event at the Broadway boards for this big attraction.

Tickets may be secured from the Recreation department by calling 1682 or from any member of the club board. Let's pull together and make it an S.R.O. for this one.

• BOWLING NEWS •

Colonial Women Memos

Happenings in the Colonial Women's League at the Central Recreation alleys Wednesday night found the Chez Emile squad, paced by the brilliant bowling of Rosemary Wiegand, winning two games from Cys. Rose was in there all the way rolling a series of 168, 160 and 162 for a 490 triple. Marge Van Alstyne had 444. Where were you that second game, Marge? . . . Captain Alyce Riseley seemed to have the jinx with her on her throws. Her strikes were not plentiful as usual although she did come through with a 483. Bea Coddington just couldn't find herself until the last game and she finished with a 478 series. Helen Smart, the gal who seems to be enemies with the one pin family, robbed out of strikes and had plenty of close misses. Helen made the 5-8-10 twice. The Joneses leadoffer and anchor are still holding their own. Evelyn Provenzano blasted out a 511 while Rose Schatzel plowed through with a 531. Doris Harvey was presumably at camp during her first game. At least that seemed to be the reason. Evelyn Jones hasn't become seasoned after her recent trek to the west coast so we'll forget her scores Wednesday night. Joneses won two from Raimonds. Hilda Ennis had high of 405 on games of 139, 136 and 133. Evelyn Longto had high single of 156. Captain Lillian Ferraro, who is still on the sick list, may be back soon. All good wishes are extended to Lillian on a quick recovery from the sick bed. . . . The Zeroettes still have those tough breaks but a team that can take it on the chin and bounce back for a lot more is tops. In the first game they lost by one single pin. Hilda Matthews was high rolling 389. Adelaide Gilbert compiled a neat 458 series. Henrietta Rose, the gal who gets strikes when its close, added her 442. Marie Koenig got off to a good start but what an ending—146, 173 and 114 for a 433. Gils won two. The Imperials won three from Feyes. M. Martalto still up in the 400 bracket. Helen Kruzsencki still is doing a lot of damage in the loop.

Mary Manfro's 153, 140 and 83 was acceptable but how about rolling that last game over Mary. Sure, you can do better than that. . . . The All Stars won two from Sams. Sams came out of the match realizing they had been through a tough night and meeting a tough team. . . . Tillie Hobush finds that 500 easy. A lot of us would like to borrow her secret. Charlotte Lapine seems to have found herself and the 500 will come easy from now on in. follow her all around. But she'll start soon and then watch out for some pretty nifty scores. . . . Kaplans certainly posseses the "golden goose" in Bertha Schaller's splits, mix-ups and one pinners. But they mean absolutely nothing to this champion of champions. Helen Broskie rolled 160, 172 and 135 for a 567 triple. Nell Jackson can get those mix-ups without too much trouble. Nekos won one from Kaplans by the way. . . . Dot Gross rolled 425. She converted the 5-7, 3-10-7. Valarie Slover had high for her team with 431. That's the spirit —up and at 'em. This club lost the last game by three pins. . . . According to Ethel Wetzel the Colonial Women's League will hold a tournament soon to help buy a bomber for Uncle Sam. . . . Keep in touch for further details. . . . Our thanks from this department to Ethel and her helpers for issuing The Freeman sports staff the second half schedule of the league. A few of the other loops in the city have been a little lax in this so far. . . . More next week.

Silver Palace Notes

Due to the holiday and the rush of sports coming into the office Friday morning only the scores of these matches were possible. But now for a quick look at some of those reported and published matches. First the Silver Palace League which rolled Wednesday night at Emerick's Recreation alleys. Georgie Robinson highlighted this circuit by banging out a sizzling 604 triple for the Joneses on scores of 202, 181 and 221 as that team won three games. Ad Jones poured out high single of 225. F. Storms had a 503 series. W. Holden's 554 series was high for the Shultis keglers.

Lacey Burger piloted the Eichlers to three wins over Centrals as he hit 562. His scores were 168, 205 and 189. Homer Emerick rolled 545, Larry Petersen, Sr., 525 and Ken Van Etten 521. H. Smith hit 517 for the Centrals.

The final match found Jacks winning three from Teetsels. Sleight's triple and Barney Rosinski's 215 single held the spotlight Sleight also rolled a 221. Rosinski's triple totaled 542. Wood hit 506.

Wiltwyck League Result

Only one Wiltwyck League game was rolled this week at the Central Rec alleys and in this one the Rescuers took three in a row from the Electrol No. 2. Fred Ferraro sparked the winners with a 590 series and 220 single, both high. H. Osmers rolled 532. J. Simmons' 522 triple was high for the Electrol.

Catholic League

In some late Catholic League matches St. Colman's, paced by Charlie Tiano's 680 series and 255 single, won three in a row from St. Josephs. F. Nerone had a 519. Fred Ferraro's 511 triple was high for the losers.

The Immaculate Conception keglers captured two from St. Peters of Kingston. Ed Schupp rolled high triple of the match with his 531. Fred Jankowski of the winners had a high single of 214.

Rosendale took three from St. Anns despite Herschenroder's 212 single and 569 series. Zurke had a 553 for the winners.

Wiltwyck League

In a postponed match the Go-Getters won two from the Electrol No. 2 team in the Wiltwyck League this week. Frank Hornbeck rolled a 203 single and 523 triple. Nick LaLima hit 522. Mark Weil's 460 triple was high for the losers.

School No. 3 Wins Volleyball Title

Freeman Photo

For the second year in a row members of School No. 3 have been crowned volleyball champions. The Chambers street youths, in winning the title, captured eight out of nine games this year and were awarded the official league trophy which is shown in the picture. Although School No. 3 won the title last year also, this was the first time that the school had been awarded a trophy for its success. Shown in the above picture kneeling in the front row left to right, are Albert Benincasa and Fred Schabot. In the same order in the second row are Salvatore Benincasa, Raymond Brown, Louis Fucco, Robert Marks, Edward Edwards, Vincent Peck. Standing left to right in the back row are Fehmer Plattner, Eugene Brodhead, Louis Ellsworth, Walter Wells and Vincent Rathgeber. Charles Charmello and Joseph Hood, not included in the photo, played with the team at one time during the season.

Army Has Slight Edge Over Middies in Line

Traditional Classic Is Set for Today; Academies Will Lose Money by Small Crowd

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 28 (AP)—Army and Navy give a new touch to inter-collegiate football today.

By presidential order the nation's two military academies who've been meeting 'most every year since 1890, tangle in the vest-pocket edition of their traditional service scramble on tiny Thompson Stadium gridiron at 1:30 p. m. (E.W.T.), and 'though each of the schools is going to lose $100,000 on the deal, they both love it.

That is because this is the wartime Army-Navy game. It's being played because a few Navy men stepped in, just when all signs pointed to its cancellation, and pleaded that just to keep the ball rolling, this one should be played "on the house."

So President Roosevelt switched it from Philadelphia's mammoth municipal stadium, with its 100,000 seating capacity, to Thompson Stadium, where 20,000 is a full house. And, with transportation headaches what they are, the President also ruled that no one outside of Annapolis' ten-mile metropolitan area would be permitted to purchase tickets for this return of the service scuffle to the naval academy's backyard for the first time since the Gay Nineties.

As a result this 43rd Army-Navy game will be played for about 12,000 of the neighbors, including the naval academy's student body. And, since West Point's cadet corps won't be able to come down, the Middies' regiment is going to be cut down the middle, so one half will cheer for Navy and the other for Army.

Lehman War Posters Shown by Museum

New York, Nov. 27—(Special) Two war posters by Harold Lehman of Maverick road, Woodstock, entered in the National War Poster Competition, have been chosen by the Museum of Modern Art here for a special exhibition of the best works in the contest. They have just gone on view, along with the nine prize-winners and others considered outstanding among the 2,224 entries. The show will continue through January 3.

The competition, which was jointly sponsored by Artists for Victory, the Council for Democracy and the Museum of Modern Art, attracted widespread interest. Not only did recognized artists of the country enter posters, but business and professional men as well.

Many of the offerings, called "fighting posters," will be used in furthering the war effort.

New Brunswick, N. J. — Artie Levine, 154, Brooklyn, outpointed Tony Pappa, 146, Old Bridge, (6).

Bowl Opponents May Be Decided in Today's Big Games

Tech, Boston College and Washington State in Picture; Others Have Chance

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Today's program virtually completes football's first campaign of the present war and no matter how good or how bad the team's record, nowhere will sun-down be more eagerly awaited than at Athens, Boston, Seattle and Nashville.

Those cities are sites of games involving teams with bowl ambitions and today's outcomes may determine which bids—if any—are received.

Generally, however, there also will be concern regarding games at Annapolis, where Army and Navy decide the service championship before 12,000; at Ann Arbor, Mich., where Iowa and Michigan decide which is to be the third team in the big ten; and at Los Angeles where 80,000 will sit in a game between Notre Dame and Southern California which decides nothing.

The Athens game will draw most of the Bowl attention because both participants, all-winning Georgia Tech and once-beaten Georgia, are claimants for post-season gold. Should the Yellowjackets successfully withstand Georgia's wrath, it is expected Tech will head west for the Rose Bowl.

If Georgia wins, however, the Bulldogs might get the chance to display Frankie Sinkwich to the Californians with Tech going to either the Cotton Bowl as the foe for Texas or to New Orleans where Boston College is expected to be the party of the second part in the Sugar Bowl.

The Eagles must dispose of a traditionally fiery opponent in Holy Cross before checking the time-tables to the south. Although the Bostonians are 4 to 1 favorites it will be the first time this season that one of coach Denny Myers regulars won't be able to start, center Fred Naumetz being the victim of a bronchial attack.

Seattle's offering is the Washington State-Washington contest in which a triumph for the Cougars would clinch at least a share of the Pacific coast conference title and a possible western Rose Bowl nomination.

Nashville is host to the Vanderbilt-Tennessee affair and the Vols, after a sputtering start, have attracted enough attention in their late season frays to gain Bowl stature.

Settling of Earth Causes Havoc in Pennsylvania Area

Pittston, Pa., Nov. 28 (AP)—The earth split open, houses cracked, pavements buckled and scores of families were evacuated in a disastrous mine subsidence here last night and early today, the worst in eastern Pennsylvania's hard coal fields in several years.

The subsidence—a gradual settling of surface earth over a mine—spread ruin through a residential section covering a half square mile.

Yawning cracks appeared in streets and lawns, the largest five feet wide, 150 feet long and so deep that the bottom was not visible.

Two hundred homes were twisted, cracked or sprung from their foundations. Sidewalks were torn up and gas and water mains snapped in several places. Water cascaded through the streets and flooded cellars.

Agents of the disaster committee of the Pittston Red Cross chapter helped to evacuate families whose home were made uninhabitable. Other residents whose houses were less badly damaged did not leave.

The cave-in began at about 5:15 p. m. and before the last earth trembles were felt early today the earth had sunk two to two and a half feet.

James Tadesco, an officer of the Pagnotti Enterprises, operators of mine collieries which extend under this Luzerne county town of 18,000, said he understood that the anthracite vein under the afflicted area had not been operated since 1868.

Employes of his firm, he said, had been assigned to help occupants of damaged homes and to make temporary repairs wherever possible.

No Driving License, Scully Pays $10 Fine

John Scully of 43 Lucas avenue was arrested Friday on Washington avenue by Officer McGrane, who charged him with operating a car without having a driver's license. This morning in police court Scully informed Judge Daniel Hoffman that he had never had a license. The judge imposed a fine of $10 which was paid.

Purdy Taken Ill

Stanley Purdy, 24 of 14 Post street, was taken suddenly ill while in the barber shop of Victor Renar at 37 East Strand on Friday afternoon. The police were notified and Officer George P. Bowers drove to the shop. Dr. Leon Gray was called and said that the man had been seized with a fainting spell and had fallen to the floor. As there was no one at the Purdy home, Dr. Gray took Purdy to the Kingston Hospital in a taxi.

Men-o'-War Hit Japs at 8 Miles

a hit on our first salvo. I could see fires start.

"The Jap fire started after we got off three salvos.

"I counted at least six and possibly eight Jap ships returning the fire.

"After firing several minutes, our ships saw two large explosions near Savo Island and silhouetted against them were two large ships, either heavy cruisers or battleships, about 12,000 to 14,000 yards away.

"This engagement lasted about ten minutes, I would judge. It was furious. Then we had about a five-minute lull. During the lull three Jap ships were reported on our starboard beam and suddenly the Japs illuminated us with searchlights. They were right on us. Their range was about 5,500 yards. One of our ships started firing almost as soon as the Jap searchlights showed up.

"Our salvo was still in the air en route to the Jap ship when the Jap searchlight on the leading ship went out.

"The Japs did not begin firing until 20 seconds after their illumination. This is slow.

"The leading Jap ship was enveloped in smoke. It billowed up in great volumes. I am of the opinion that it was a battleship because it had four searchlights on it.

"Our battery concentrated on the second Jap vessel, and her searchlights were knocked out. Smoke issued from her also. I believe she was a light cruiser.

"The enemy ceased firing. We fired several more salvos at her in the general direction of the smoke, but the engagement was finished. We ceased firing at 1:02 a. m., the engagement including a five minute comparative lull lasting 44 minutes.

"During the illumination of the second engagement, they hit us. The hits sounded like big chunks of hail dropping on a tin roof.

"We had a useless safe aboard which we could not open because the combination was lost. The Japs opened it for us with an eight-incher.

"The supposition that we caught the enemy by surprise I believe is correct.

"Our losses were about two per cent of our crew killed and three per cent injured.

"Our bag was one possible battleship or heavy cruiser; three heavy cruisers; at least two destroyers.

"The enemy knows we hit him well."

How to cut the cost of Heating Your Home

BY John Barclay

AMERICA'S HOME HEATING EXPERT

Clinkers and Their Elimination

It is a common saying "The Coal Clinkers." But this is not true. It is a physical impossibility to make coal clinker. It is the refuse in the coal that causes clinker trouble. The heat from the fire will cause this refuse to soften and fuse, and upon cooling will form a crust, commonly known as a clinker.

And yet with anthracite coal (hard coal), the small amount of impurities have such a high fusion temperature that in home heating, clinkers should never occur, but now and then we do have clinker trouble. However, the coal should not be blamed. Clinkers are actually "manufactured" by wrong methods of handling and improper firing.

It is the easiest thing in the world to cause a clinker to form. All one has to do is to mix red hot coals with the ash. How do we unconsciously mix red coals and ash? By pulling out a clinker that has already formed, through the fire door. By using a hooked end poker—always use a straight poker. By stirring the fire unnecessarily. By shaking the grates too vigorously. By using ashes for banking. By burning rubbish or garbage in the furnace.

Avoid doing the above things and you will never be bothered with clinkers. However, there are several other ways in which clinkers can be made to form.

They can be formed by burning a coal too small in size. This small size coal will pack so tightly that it is very difficult for the draft to pass through the fuel bed. Contrary to what many people believe the smaller size of hard coal does not burn fast. But this size coal packs more and consequently requires more air for combustion to penetrate through the fuel. The heat that is generated cannot be wiped away easily and the temperature may build up sufficiently to soften the impurity in the coal.

Clinkers can be made by "blasting." "Blasting" means improper control of air by dampers. Let us assume heat is wanted upstairs. The fire is probably shaken vigorously and the dampers open wide. When sufficient heat is obtained upstairs the fire is suddenly and completely checked. Thus a tremendous amount of heat is "bottled" up in the furnace and the fuel bed temperature immediately goes up in a hurry. If this temperature becomes high enough, the natural impurities in the coal will soften, then melt and run together and form what is known as a common clinker.

Here is what to do if you think a clinker has formed in your firebed. Take a straight edged poker and pierce the clinker. Be careful not to stir the fire. Open the drafts wide. The cold air will flow through the perforated mass, and when this cold air comes in contact with the red hot mass, it suddenly becomes chilled and will break up because of the sudden contraction which takes place.

This is sometimes called "burning out a clinker." Then nurse the fire back to normal with correct firing to its proper depth. Don't forget to reset the dampers before leaving the basement. Ask your fuel dealer for firing instruction and charts and eliminate this trouble. Proper handling of the equipment and the fuel will greatly minimize clinker formation. (23) exploits in the 1940 campaign against France.

Maj. Gen. Charles W. Ryder, who commands the American mobile units attached to the Anderson expedition, presumably was assigned quantities of tank destroyers as well as tanks, armored cars and artillery by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Possessing a strong frontal shield and packing an anti-aircraft gun in addition to its 105, the tank destroyer is designed, in the traditional phrase, to seek out, pursue and destroy the enemy.

The 105 gun, relatively new to the American army, has a diameter a half-inch larger than Hitler's 88s and greater hitting power.

Against the lack of side and top armor, the destroyer crew has greater visibility and maneuverability than tanks and less heat, noise and vibration.

The Tunisian battle arena is one which a retired British army officer Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, pointed out last January 11 must be taken and held by the allies. With Rommel then withdrawing a battered army westward, even as now, General Fuller declared in the Sunday pictorial of London: "At the very least, Tunisia and its great naval base at Bizerte must be occupied by us and powerful air fields must be established there to command the waist of the Mediterranean."

This undoubtedly was among the operations which "were discussed in detail" by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt at the June conferences from which came the pledge that German strength would be diverted from the attack upon Soviet Russia.

heavy losses, today's noon communique said.

After this diversion the Allies resumed their advance, moving in the same way that they have been since the enemy took a stand ten days ago within strongly prepared positions along the 12 miles of coast between Buna and Gona.

The carefully hidden machine-gun nests and mortar emplacements of the defenders are scouted out, softened by artillery or bombs, if possible, then overwhelmed by the swift thrust of jungle fighters skilled in use of grenades, rifles, pistols and light machine-guns. Usually it is necessary to kill all the Japanese in the position.

Then the operation starts all over again on the next strongpoint.

The communique said Allied airplanes continued to aid the ground troops all they could by repeated heavy strafing and bombing of the Japanese lines.

(Fierceness of the fighting was apparent in a Sydney war correspondent's dispatches describing an engagement early this week. Two Australian imperial companies killed 150 Japanese but lost 66 of their own number in taking an enemy gun which had been holding up the Allied advance near Soputa a few miles from Buna, he said.)

Elsewhere in the southwestern Pacific theatre, Allied medium bombers attacked and destroyed enemy-occupied buildings at Nova Lisa and Beco on the island of Timor and an enemy submarine was bombed at night with unobserved results in the Gulf of Huon off the New Guinea coast.

mand declared flatly that Red army assaults in the same area had "collapsed."

A German communique also admitted heavy fighting was in progress in the Moscow front, where the Russians apparently have launched another big-scale offensive. Soviet attacks were centering around the big German base at Rzhev, 135 miles northwest of Moscow, and near Toropets, 240 miles northwest of the capital.

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said not a single German remained on the west bank of the Don in the flaming battle cauldron west of Stalingrad as the Russians attacked from the rear and herded them back eastward.

Front-line reports said the Russians scored new gains northwest and southwest of the Volga metropolis despite German reinforcements and a heavy snow that shrouded the frozen Steppes.

Stalingrad's long-besieged garrison itself was slowly driving the Nazis back toward the Red bayonets thrusting in from the west, killing 700 Germans at one point and 300 at another.

Axis casualties in killed and captured in the Red army's spectacular nine-day-old offensive passed the 118,000 mark, it was reported, and additional hundreds of Nazi prisoners were streaming dismally to the rear.

British military quarters said a large Axis army undoubtedly was surrounded in a pocket south of Kalach, 40 miles west of Stalingrad, and declared that the magnitude of the German disaster should be clear within the next three or four days.

In the Volga citadel's northside factory district, where the Germans had hoped to find shelter against the bitter Russian winter, Soviet troops were reported to have swept the invaders from 20 blockhouses in a 450-yard advance and sent the Nazis fleeing out of several buildings.

In the Libyan front, British headquarters for the second day tersely announced "nothing to report" as Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army maneuvered for a possible decisive attack on the German Africa Corps at El Agheila, a narrow defile between marshy quicksands and the sea.

National Legion of Decency Renewal Pledge

Pastors of the New York Archdiocese have been requested in a letter from the Most Rev. J. Francis A. McIntyre, chancellor, to inform their parishioners that within the octave of the Immaculate Conception, they will be asked to make the annual renewal of their pledge of the National Legion of Decency. The pledge, condemning "indecent and immoral motion pictures and those which glorify crime or criminals" continues:

"I promise to do all that I can to strengthen public opinion against the production of indecent and immoral films, and to unite with all those who protest against them.

"I acknowledge my obligation to form a right conscience about pictures that are dangerous to my moral life. As a member of the Legion of Decency, I pledge myself to remain away from them. I promise, further, to stay away altogether from places of amusement which show them as a matter of policy."

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

In driving, as elsewhere, it's courtesy that makes the big difference. It's civilized manners that make the big difference.

A man pinned underneath his car after an auto accident, was being questioned by a policeman:

Policeman—Are you married?

Man—No. This is the worst fix I was ever in.

These are the days when one likes to recall that a horse would always start on a cold morning.

First Motorist—Aw, what's the matter with you?

Second Motorist—Nothing's the matter with me. Why?

First Motorist—You gave me a nasty look.

Second Motorist—I did not. But now that you mention it, you certainly do have a nasty look.

Motorists should remember that school days are here again and that darkness comes earlier. They should watch out for our boys and girls as they go to and from school. Drive slowly and carefully.

Motorist—It's preposterous, old man. I'm an expert driver. What I know about driving would fill a book.

Constable—And what you don't know would fill a hospital. Give us your name and address, now!

Strong drink never produced a strong nation.

Farmer—I can't afford to sell food for the prices I can get in town.

Man—Why don't you move to town?

Farmer—Then I couldn't afford to buy it.

Don't let your coins accumulate. Turn them in for war stamps as often as you can. In other words —don't heighten the metal shortage.

Girl—Mother objects to you, Karl, because you have to work for a living.

Young Man—It's all right now, dear, I've lost my job.

Wise Girl!

Mary has a little change.
Of it she is quite fond;
She spends her nickels all for stamps,
And soon will have a bond.

Wife—Why women have been famous for ages!

Husband—Yes, I know—untold ages.

The world must pray for a short war and plan for a long one.

Editor—Do you act toward your wife as you did before you married her?

Man—Exactly. I remember how I used to act when I first fell in love. I used to stand at front and look at her house, almost afraid to go in. Now I do the same thing some nights.

A school girl was urged by her teacher to do her home work. The next day her teacher received the following reply from the child's mother:

"Dear Miss: My granmaw didn't know no geography and she got her man. My maw didn't know no geography and she got her man. I don't know no geography and I got my man. You know your geography and you ain't got no man."

Small Boy—Dad, what is meant by "the bone of contention?"

Dad—The jawbone, son!

Better be up on your toes than down at the heels.

Young Man—What's harder than buying a present for a girl who has everything?

Friend—Buying one for a girl who wants everything.

Johannesburg, South Africa, has decided that slit trenches are better protection than concrete air raid shelters.

Victory Pennant Is Awarded 4 Counties

Per Capita Collection of 100 Pounds Needed

Any county which has attained a per capita collection of 100 pounds or more of scrap from any and all sources, including farm, household, industry and special projects such as street car rails, abandoned equipment etc., will receive a Victory Pennant to fly from the court house flag pole or other appropriate place. This was announced by Paul C. Cabot, Deputy Chief of the Conservation Division, War Production Board.

In order to secure this award, the county must certify to the State Salvage Committee chairman, that the quota of 100 pounds or more per capita has been reached and in turn the W.P.B. will be notified and the pennant awarded. In order to be eligible for the pennant award, the goal must have been reached between September 1 and October 31, 1942.

Among the counties to receive the award to date is Schenectady with 167 pounds per capita; Madison with 101½ pounds; Tompkins with 127 pounds and Herkimer with 116 pounds per capita.

The city of Kingston has gone over the 100 pounds mark per person but the county figures have not reached that total.

Farewell Gifts Are Appreciated

Kingston Inductee Finds His Is Generous City

That the farewell gifts presented to the inductees into the U. S. Army from Kingston as they leave for training camp are appreciated, is shown in the following letter written by Pvt. Henry S. Van DerZee, now at Camp Upton, to Mayor William F. Edelmuth.

The letter reads as follows: "I am just dropping you a line to let you know how greatly the efforts of you and your committee are appreciated by the men who are entering the service of their country.

"It is true that we, in Kingston, have become so used to that sort of thing that we never remark about it any more, but since coming to Camp Upton I have met men from several of the other cities in our state, and none of them have been treated by the citizens and mayors of their city as we have been. So often we who are grateful are negligent about expressing our gratitude, but I am sure that your desk has been flooded with notes of thanks.

"This is a real 'Man's City.' Women on the streets are a curiosity, especially since civilian visitors have been banned from the post. While we do work hard, we find that the life is very invigorating, and we are doing even the most unpleasant tasks with a will so that we may the sooner get home and be with all our friends again.

"Knowing that the greatest battles of any war are fought and won by those who stay at home, and appreciating greatly their kindnesses and quiet bravery, I am, proudly, their grateful servant and yours."

MODESTY WINS NEW TIRE

Eleven motorists applied to the tire board of the Springfontein, South Africa, district and each wanted one tire. But 10 of the 11 applied for two tires, thinking thereby to insure obtaining the one they desired. The board had only one tire. Ruling that it was impossible to satisfy the needs of an applicant for two tires with one tire, it awarded the lone tire to the lone applicant for one tire.

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Mild irregularity persisted in today's brief stock market, with peace favorites still given a slight edge over issues in the armament classification.

While the good war news from all directions remained as a bolstering influence for many leaders, buyers exhibited considerable week-end timidity. Tax selling again was a factor. Some who registered profits or losses for income statements were understood to have switched to other stocks but many inclined toward a cash position pending more definite clues regarding trends.

Dealings were slow from the start and, near the final hour, negligible minus signs were in the majority.

Eastern Air Lines made a new 1942 top by ⅛ and United Air Lines was up as much. The latter was aided by a pleasing earnings summary. Small advances were shown by Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Standard Oil (N. J.), General Motors and International Harvester. Lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Anaconda, Westinghouse and Allied Chemical.

Bonds were mixed and commodities narrow.

Freezing Temperatures

Following the three days of steady rainfall earlier in the week the temperature suddenly dropped last night, and this morning the city was in the grip of freezing temperatures with thermometers in various sections of the city recording as low as 20 degrees at 6 o'clock this morning. The city hall thermometer recorded a low of 29 degrees. On Friday temperatures in Kingston ranged from 32 to 49 degrees, and last night the mercury began dropping steadily.

Kingston Veterans Annual Meeting

Discuss Placing Plants on Veterans' Graves, Other Matters

The matter of dispensing with the placing of potted plants on the individual graves of service men each Memorial Day was under discussion at the annual meeting of the Kingston Veterans' Association held at city hall last evening. This matter has been up for discussion at previous meetings when a suggestion was made that the association erect in each cemetery a monument of modest size in memory of all veterans buried in the cemetery and then on Memorial Day hold their services and decorate the monument to the memory of all service men buried in the cemetery.

After a discussion of this plan the delegates of the individual organizations represented in the Association were asked to get a vote of the sentiment of their organization on the proposition and report back at a future meeting.

Harry R. Karnaghan, county service officer, was re-elected chairman of the Association and James M. Krom of the Sons of Union Veterans, was named secretary-treasurer. Edward J. Wortman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was named vice-chairman in place of Roswell Coles of the United Spanish War Veterans.

The association, which is made up of representatives of all veteran organizations and allied organizations of the city, named Edward J. Wortman and Roswell Coles to the executive committee along with Frank Stopski of the Co. M. Veterans' Association, Thomas Reynolds of the American Legion and Harry Kingsburg, representing the Sons of the Legion.

A tentative budget of $1,175 was adopted for Memorial Day observance in 1943 and since the holiday falls on Sunday, it was voted to hold all exercises that day, with the parade in the afternoon.

Provinces Are in Turmoil

London, Nov. 28 (AP)—Netherlands coastal provinces are in turmoil as German authorities enforce a decree for withdrawal of civilians to the interior before November 30 as a safeguard against invasion, Aneta reported today. The Netherlands Indies News Agency said that "despite Nazi orders to leave everything, x x x people go through the streets pushing handcarts loaded with their most precious possessions x x x."

Sol was originally in the Medical Corps, but that branch of service did not appeal to him and he transferred to the Air Corps and is reported serving as a bombardier.

Silk Stockings Should Be Saved but Not Lingerie

Inquiries have come from many people asking the state salvage committee whether silk lingerie can be used in connection with the salvaging of women's silk and nylon hosiery. Because of the method of manufacture, silk lingerie cannot be used. The process for salvaging stockings, which are knitted, cannot be applied to woven stitch. Silk and rayon stockings are sent to a reclaiming plant where the rayon or cotton tops and feet are cut off and the silk portion is processed and used for powder bags by the armed forces. Silk burns instantly and leaves no ask residue in the guns. Silk stockings should be washed thoroughly and turned in to the government in 100 pound lots. No remunerations is involved and the campaign is purely voluntary and patriotic.

Gwen Anderson's Story Is Sort That Dazzles Actresses

By JEAN MEEGAN

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Gwen Anderson's story is the kind of fame-over-night catapulting to success that brings hordes of glory-struck actresses to Broadway:

She came to New York for the first time in her life;

She got a starring job—the title role of "Janie"—from the first producer she saw.

It doesn't happen often. Just often enough to keep alive the legend that sometimes it does.

Some of the answers lies in the fact that she is a natural for the part, 21 years old herself, and it's no job at all to remember how she behaved when she was 17 and give a spirited imitation of it every night in Janie. Even off the stage it is hard to tell where Janies leaves off and Gwen begins.

Some of the answer, too, may be that Brock Pemperton knows talent. He gave Ruth Chatterton, Miriam Hopkins, and Margaret Sullivan their respective starts. He was looking around for a new face for his new part when she walked into his office.

Anyway, Gwen Anderson is in New York city for the first time and she loves it. "It's exactly what I expected, the buildings, the strange noises, so many things to do."

Miss Anderson reached Broadway via the scenic route. She was born and still spends her summers in Des Moines, Ia., but left there for the Pasadena playhouse three years ago. She got her diploma from that institution and headed east for serious work. She struck it rich.

Gwen's idea of a big afternoon is to browse around one of the famous museums. But she will go to a football game with equal enthusiasm.

With her mother, Mrs. Leone Anderson, she occupies a wee bit of a furnished apartment in West Fifty-fifth street and there she gives small parties. Also she goes only to small parties. She affects no nonsense about wanting to be domestic and cook. She doesn't like to and she doesn't want to.

Badly misguided on the subject of clothes, she arrived from California dressed in the flamboyant style known as "theatrical." A gentle word of advice from Pemberton changed all that. Now she dresses just as any girl her age would—just as Janie does.

Although not a movie fan, Gwen pops into movies when she can. She ice skates a couple of times a week with Betty Breckenridge, also from the cast of "Janie," and she rides horseback intermittently.

"It's a little corny," Miss Anderson apologizes, "but I think if you wish long enough for anything it comes true." That was the first line she ever spoke from the stage. It was in the Children's Theatre in Des Moines when she was seven years old. It turned out to be the story of her life.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Confused Cops

Monroe, La.—Alexandria police telephoned officers here the description of a car driven by a man with one leg and asked that the man be arrested.

Shortly, the local officers spotted a car answering the description, but there were four occupants. The driver had only one leg—but so did the other three. The officers arrested all four pending further identification.

A-1 Problem

Kansas City—The Kansas City Star wanted to emphasize the troubles househunters were having. So it took an actual case, but identified the weary hunter merely as Mr. A.

Mr. A. then set out for another day of house hunting—and found a vacancy.

"But I won't rent it to you," the landlord said. "I read about this Mr. A in the newspaper and I'm gonna save it for him."

After some argument, Mr. A. moved in.

Sea Food

Bandon, Ore. — Don Stryker is heading back to the seashore to see if he can't find a sack of sugar.

On his last trip there he picked up a package he thinks was from the schooner, Susan Olson, which sank recently during a storm.

In the package was a tightly sealed two-pound can of coffee.

Curses!

Denver—Denver University's all-girl pep organization, the Parakeets, pranced out for its half-time stunt at the Colorado game.

The object was to spell out "hello."

But the "O's" became confused and lined up first.

Too Old Too Late

Chicago — Elmer F. Stevens wasn't sure but thought his age was 42 when he registered for the draft. After his induction he learned he was 51 from records of his honorable discharge from the first World War army.

Stevens obtained a writ of habeas corpus to free him from service, but federal judge William J. Campbell, dissolving the writ, ruled that Stevens must remain in the army because he had not corrected the mistake within the 10-day limit prescribed by law.

November Milk Price Estimated at $3.26

The third straight record-setting milk price was in sight today when Charles J. Blanford, administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, estimated that dairy farmers of the six states of the New York milkshed will collect for their November deliveries at the uniform rate of $3.26 a hundredweight (46.51 quarts).

The administrator likewise forecasts that November receipts will weigh approximately 400,000,000 pounds and will fall below last November's volume by 3.6 per cent.

The estimated rate of return tops the previous peaks by $2.90 for September and $3.01 for October milk. November 1941's rate of $2.82, the record high price determined according to the federal-state marketing orders up to this September, will be outdistanced by 44 cents, or 15.6 per cent, if the estimated price is confirmed next month.

"Estimates of price production," Dr. Blanford reported, "indicate that the pool should produce a farm value of at least $13,840,000, counting in the value of the extra butterfat and location payments. The November, 1941 pool, which contained 414,821,897 pounds, yielded a return of $12,499,562.75 on exactly the same basis.

"According to our forecasts, the margin of gain which can be credited to the current pool amounts to nearly $1,340,000. The increase in value probably will run slightly above 10 per cent.

for "several of the bureaucrats to resign."

Other members of the committee explained that it would be a simple matter to bring about Henderson's resignation by writing into the O. P. A. supply bill a provision that none of the funds be expended so long as Henderson was in charge.

Some members went so far as to suggest that O. P. A. be abolished entirely and its functions turned over to James Byrnes, economic stabilization director.

From influential Republicans came predictions that one of the first things the strengthened minority would demand when the new Congress convenes would be a complete investigation of O. P. A.

The congressional protests, voiced in the House late yesterday, were spearheaded by a group of Democrats, who applauded the suggestion of Representative Cox (D.-Ga.) that Congress "should put the bureaucrats on record now" that "their regime is going to end."

Large Increases In Retail Stores During October

Albany, Nov. 27—Retail stores in the state reported quite large seasonal gains in their forces and payrolls from the middle of September to the middle of October. Increases amounted to 5.7 per cent in employment and 5.1 per cent in payrolls. According to a statement issued today by Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller, these gains were almost twice as large as the average gains reported in the same period of the last eight years. However, the increases this October followed somewhat smaller than usual seasonal gains during September of this year. In those sections of the state where a great amount of war production is in progress, many of the variety, 5 and 10-to-a-dollar stores, and department stores were employing record-size forces this fall. But the gains in these stores offset only part of the losses in those lines of retail trade affected by government restrictions, freezing orders, etc. Compared with the level of employment and payrolls last October, retail stores employ 2.2 per cent smaller forces during this October but they paid out 0.4 per cent more in total amount of payroll. These figures are based on reports from 8,432 retail stores in all parts of the state. The reports are collected and analyzed in the Division of Statistics and Information, under the direction of Dr. E. B. Patton. Beginning with September to October figures, reports from almost a thousand restaurants and eating places are no longer included in the tabulations.

Wholesale dealers in the state reported a further small loss of two-tenths of 1 per cent in employment and a gain of 1.6 per cent in total payrolls from September to October. Average changes reported in the same period of the last eight years amounted to gains of less than 1 per cent in both forces and payrolls. Reports from 2,732 wholesale firms throughout the state form the basis for these figures. These firms employed 9.5 per cent smaller forces this October than last October and they paid out 2.6 per cent less in total wages, salaries and commissions.

Blame New Deal For the Condition Of Dairy Industry

Republican Congressmen From New York Point to Agriculture, Labor, Selective Service

By L. B. SHUBERT

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—New York Republican congressmen, concerned over the imminence of the rationing of dairy products, lay the blame at the door of the administration's policies on agriculture, labor and selective service.

Rep. Wadsworth said he was not "surprised" at the present situation, adding the administration "miscalculated" in setting up objectives for the dairy industry.

"The industry itself lined up for the future," Wadsworth asserted in an interview "but in the last summer and autumn everything has changed because of the labor situation."

He said he believed the estimates as to lend-lease requirements were accurate at the time they were made 18 months ago, "but future demands perhaps should have been taken into consideration."

"I do know, however," he continued, "that the whole dairy industry is threatened. Labor is being sucked away from it and the farmers are auctioning off their cattle. They cannot get the labor and many are being compelled against their wishes to go out of business."

Wadsworth said he "assumed" President Roosevelt was aware of the situation, adding the Chief Executive "last winter discouraged efforts to get price ceiling on wages," while recently asking for them.

"Farmers don't know anything about a 40-hour week," he concluded.

Rep. Cole declared "failure to foresee the shortage of farm labor and to take counter-steps is responsible for the condition we now have."

"Obviously," he said, "the New Deal's policies in agriculture are beginning to catch up with it. Agriculture itself will have to pay the penalty for these shortcomings."

As to requirements of dairy products abroad, Cole said "if the needs have been greater than have been anticipated, our government should have forseen this."

Rep. Reed, likewise, attributed the shortage and threatened rationing to administration policies.

"The New Deal," he said, "has been arrogant and insulting when the dairy farmer has asked for deferment. The administration has granted scarcity and now is trying to ration it. Those of us from the dairy districts have tried to see to it that we have not been stripped of labor. In this time of war the government should have urged that the farmer produce more of everything."

Reed urged "farm labor be deferred from army service to prevent the slaughter of cattle for which there is no fodder."

Rep. Edwin A. Hall urged there be some "good definition of the selective service program." In its operation he said he saw some of the reasons why farm labor may be moving into industry and into the armed services.

"The operation of the program," he commented, "has been left to local groups, and in them rests the decision whether 'teen age boys should go to war or stay on the farm. Lewis Hershey, selective service director, in his speeches, tells boards what they shall do. The speeches give out as gospel truth what he says at the time, but no part of the speech ever seems to go to a board in the form of an order."

At the same time these congressional opinions were given, government sources said that as in the case of meat, the demand for milk and dairy products has risen because of increased earning power among the nation's workers. All this is in addition to lend-lease and armed service demands.

In an effort to meet demands the agriculture department planned an experimental program for recruiting farm workers. A preliminary estimate was that the agriculture labor shortage for 1943 would reach 1,500,000, if the present military induction and industrial employment demands continue.

At any rate, with rationing of cheese, butter and milk more than a possibility, it was interesting to note that in New York city alone in the year before the United States entered the war, there were consumed 257,000,000 pounds of butter, 74,000,000 pounds of cheese and more than one and one-half billion quarts of milk and cream.

Recs Point to West Point Game for Wednesday, December 9

Club Officials Out To Build Up S.R.O. Throng for Benefit

Local War Plants Waging Contest on the Tickets; U. S. O. Will Receive Money From Game

While the Kingston Recreations are marking time until next Wednesday's clash with the strong Harlem Yankees, "Turk" Karam's quintet also is pointing to Wednesday, December 9, when Master Sergt. James M. McCabe brings the Field Artillery Detachment of the United States Military Academy at West Point to the municipal auditorium.

To date this is the big game of the campaign for the local professional cagers. In one sense, the U.S.O. angle, the game stands at the head; in the other the contest itself will undoubtedly furnish some of the best opposition the Recs will engage this year.

Other Service Games

Of course, this is just one of many service games that the Recreations will book for the 1942-1943 campaign. Other games with army camps throughout the eastern seaboard will be listed from time to time. But this, being the first, Rec officials and backers, hope to fill the auditorium to capacity. The U.S.O. will benefit from this engagement.

In connection with this battle, local war plants in this city are waging a contest to determine what company sells the most tickets for the game. The Electrol, Hercules, Hiltebrants and Island Dock workers have started their selling plan and from this source alone, everything points to an S.R.O. crowd December 9 at the Broadway boards.

With the Recreations winning their first two games from the Hartford Gems and the New York Jewels, local fans are satisfied that this edition of the club can win games the hard way as was demonstrated last Thursday night when the Recs turned back the Jewels in a quick-ending last period rush of baskets. By the time the West Point club gets here Kingston will have played three games and the Pointers should find the locals in readiness.

Of course, Manager "Turk" Karam will go with his regular players including Howie Bollerman, Ace Goldstein, Hagen Anderson, Herb Gershon, Nick Shaback, Irv Rosen and Jimmy Naughton. Even without Shaback this week the Recs were able to humble the fast-stepping Jewels. With Nick in the lineup and teaming with Gerhson, Kingston should be able to hand the outstanding West Point team in good style.

All-American on Squad

However, Sergeant McCabe's quintet will prove plenty strong for Karam's outfit. Besides Captain H. B. Gist, former All-American at West Virginia, the Field Artillery team will have a host of other veteran basketball players who have either made their mark in college or high school competition.

Captain Gist is slated to play at one of the forward berths along with either Dick Gelman, ex-all-Westchester City forward; George Gray, Croton-on-Hudson High School star; or Pat Tortorello, former New Jersey all-state forward. Gist and Gray are six footers.

Another lanky basketeer may start at center in the person of Georgie Snow who played on the Rockland City championship club in 1941. The other center is Godfrey Casaella, a member of St. Mary's Club in Jersey City, N. J. Both are fine players and should give Howie Bollerman plenty of work December 9.

The West Point club lists three capable players at the guard slots. The first and possibly the one who will be held in the highest regard is Lew Panzanaro, a six-footer who was one of the Peekskill Big Five. Panzanaro has played against the Olsen Swedes, House of David, Kate Smith's Celtics and a number of other top-notch cage clubs. Another guard is Charlie Adanaski, who received his athletic letter from the U. S. Army in the Hawaiian Islands in 1939. Frankie Friedman rounds out the squad. Friedman is a former Yorktown Heights High School star who later was chosen on the all-star league team.

With this batch of material plus the regular Recreation roster, district and local fans will be in for a good night of basketball Wednesday, December 9. Recreation officials are going all-out in attempts to pack one of the biggest crowds ever to attend any event at the Broadway boards for this big attraction.

Tickets may be secured from the Recreation department by calling 1682 or from any member of the club board. Let's pull together and make it an S.R.O. for this one.

• BOWLING NEWS •

Colonial Women Memos

Happenings in the Colonial Women's League at the Central Recreation alleys Wednesday night found the Chez Emile squad, paced by the brilliant bowling of Rosemary Wiegand, winning two games from Cys. Rose was in there all the way rolling a series of 168, 160 and 162 for a 490 triple. Marge Van Alstyne had 444. Where were you that second game, Marge? . . . Captain Alyce Riseley seemed to have the jinx with her on her throws. Her strikes were not plentiful as usual although she did come through with a 483. Bea Coddington just couldn't find herself until the last game and she finished with a 478 series. Helen Smart, the gal who seems to be enemies with the one pin family, robbed out of strikes and had plenty of close misses. Helen made the 5-8-10 twice. The Joneses leadoffer and anchor are still holding their own. Evelyn Provenzano blasted out a 511 while Rose Schatzel plowed through with a 531. Doris Harvey was presumably at camp during her first game. At least that seemed to be the reason. Evelyn Jones hasn't become seasoned after her recent trek to the west coast so we'll forget her scores Wednesday night. Joneses won two from Raimonds. Hilda Ennis had high of 405 on games of 139, 136 and 133. Evelyn Longto had high single of 156. Captain Lillian Ferraro, who is still on the sick list, may be back soon. All good wishes are extended to Lillian on a quick recovery from the sick bed. . . . The Zeroettes still have those tough breaks but a team that can take it on the chin and bounce back for a lot more is tops. In the first game they lost by one single pin. Hilda Matthews was high rolling 389. Adelaide Gilbert compiled a neat 458 series. Henrietta Rose, the gal who gets strikes when its close, added her 442. Marie Koenig got off to a good start but what an ending—146, 173 and 114 for a 433. Gils won two. The Imperials won three from Feyes. M. Martalto still up in the 400 bracket. Helen Kruzsenski still is doing a lot of damage in the loop.

Mary Manfro's 153, 140 and 83 was acceptable but how about rolling that last game over Mary. Sure, you can do better than that. . . . The All Stars won two from Sams. Sams came out of the match realizing they had been through a tough night and meeting a tough team. . . . Tillie Hobush finds that 500 easy. A lot of us would like to borrow her secret. Charlotte Lapine seems to have found herself and the 500 will come easy from now on in. follow her all around. But she'll start soon and then watch out for some pretty nifty scores. . . . Kaplans certainly posseses the "golden goose" in Bertha Schaller's splits, mix-ups and one pinners. But they mean absolutely nothing to this champion of champions. Helen Broskie rolled 160, 172 and 135 for a 567 triple. Nell Jackson can get those mix-ups without too much trouble. Nekos won one from Kaplans by the way. . . . Dot Gross rolled 425. She converted the 5-7, 3-10-7. Valarie Slover had high for her team with 431. That's the spirit —up and at 'em. This club lost the last game by three pins. . . . According to Ethel Wetzel the Colonial Women's League will hold a tournament soon to help buy a bomber for Uncle Sam. . . . Keep in touch for further details. . . . Our thanks from this department to Ethel and her helpers for issuing The Freeman sports staff the second half schedule of the league. A few of the other loops in the city have been a little lax in this so far. . . . More next week.

Freeman Photo

For the second year in a row members of School No. 3 have been crowned volleyball champions. The Chambers street youths, in winning the title, captured eight out of nine games this year and were awarded the official league trophy which is shown in the picture. Although School No. 3 won the title last year also, this was the first time that the school had been awarded a trophy for its success. Shown in the above picture kneeling in the front row left to right, are Albert Benincasa and Fred Schabot. In the same order in the second row are Salvatore Benincasa, Raymond Brown, Louis Fucco, Robert Marks, Edward Edwards, Vincent Peck. Standing left to right in the back row are Fehmer Platiner, Eugene Brodhead, Louis Ellsworth, Walter Wells and Vincent Rathgeber. Charles Charmello and Joseph Hood, not included in the photo, played with the team at one time during the season.

Traditional Classic Is Set for Today; Academies Will Lose Money by Small Crowd

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 28 (AP)—Army and Navy give a new touch to inter-collegiate football today. By presidential order the nation's two military academies who've been meeting most every year since 1890, tangle in the vest-pocket edition of their traditional service scramble on tiny Thompson Stadium gridiron at 1:30 p. m. (E.W.T.), and though each of the schools is going to lose $100,000 on the deal, they both love it.

That is because this is the wartime Army-Navy game. It's being played because a few Navy men stepped in, just when all signs pointed to its cancellation, and pleaded that just to keep the ball rolling, this one should be played "on the house."

So President Roosevelt switched it from Philadelphia's mammoth municipal stadium, with its 100,000 seating capacity, to Thompson Stadium, where 20,000 is a full house. And, with transportation headaches what they are, the President also ruled that no one outside of Annapolis' ten-mile metropolitan area would be permitted to purchase tickets for this return of the service scuffle to the naval academy's backyard for the first time since the Gay Nineties.

As a result this 43rd Army-Navy game will be played for about 12,000 of the neighbors, including the naval academy's student body. And, since West Point's cadet corps won't be able to come down, the Middies' regiment is going to be cut down the middle, so one half will cheer for Navy and the other for Army.

Lehman War Posters Shown by Museum

New York, Nov. 27—(Special) Two war posters by Harold Lehman of Maverick road, Woodstock, entered in the National War Poster Competition, have been chosen by the Museum of Modern Art here for a special exhibition of the best works in the contest. They have just gone on view, along with the nine prize-winners and others considered outstanding among the 2,224 entries. The show will continue through January 3.

The competition, which was jointly sponsored by Artists for Victory, the Council for Democracy and the Museum of Modern Art, attracted widespread interest. Not only did recognized artists of the country enter posters, but business and professional men as well.

Many of the offerings, called "fighting posters," will be used in furthering the war effort.

New Brunswick, N. J. — Artie Levine, 154, Brooklyn, outpointed Tony Pappa, 155, Old Bridge, (8).

Bowl Opponents May Be Decided in Today's Big Games

Tech, Boston College and Washington State in Picture; Others Have Chance

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Today's program virtually completes football's first campaign of the present war and no matter how good or how bad the team's record, nowhere will sun-down be more eagerly awaited than at Athens, Boston, Seattle and Nashville.

Those cities are sites of games involving teams with bowl ambitions and today's outcomes may determine which bids—if any—are received.

Generally, however, there also will be concern regarding games at Annapolis, where Army and Navy decide the service championship before 12,000; at Ann Arbor, Mich., where Iowa and Michigan decide which is to be the third team in the big ten; and at Los Angeles where 80,000 will sit in a game between Notre Dame and Southern California which decides nothing.

The Athens game will draw most of the Bowl attention because both participants, all-winning Georgia Tech and once-beaten Georgia, are claimants for post-season gold. Should the Yellowjackets successfully withstand Georgia's wrath, it is expected Tech will head west for the Rose Bowl.

If Georgia wins, however, the Bulldogs might get the chance to display Frankie Sinkwich to the Californians with Tech going to either the Cotton Bowl as the foe for Texas or to New Orleans where Boston College is expected to be the party of the second part in the Sugar Bowl.

The Eagles must dispose of a traditionally fiery opponent in Holy Cross before checking the time-tables to the south. Although the Bostonians are 4 to 1 favorites it will be the first time this season that one of coach Denny Myers regulars won't be able to start, center Fred Naumetz being the victim of a bronchial attack.

Seattle's offering is the Washington State-Washington contest in which a triumph for the Cougars would clinch at least a share of the Pacific coast conference title and a possible western Rose Bowl nomination.

Nashville is host to the Vanderbilt-Tennessee affair and the Vols, after a sputtering start, have attracted enough attention in their late season frays to gain Bowl stature.

Settling of Earth Causes Havoc in Pennsylvania Area

Pittston, Pa., Nov. 28 (AP)—The earth split open, houses cracked, pavements buckled and scores of families were evacuated in a disastrous mine subsidence here last night and early today, the worst in eastern Pennsylvania's hard coal fields in several years.

The subsidence—a gradual settling of surface earth over a mine—spread ruin through a residential section covering a half square mile.

Yawning cracks appeared in streets and lawns, the largest five feet wide, 150 feet long and so deep that the bottom was not visible.

Two hundred homes were twisted, cracked or sprung from their foundations. Sidewalks were torn up and gas and water mains snapped in several places. Water cascaded through the streets and flooded cellars.

Agents of the disaster committee of the Pittston Red Cross chapter helped to evacuate families whose home were made uninhabitable. Other residents whose houses were less badly damaged did not leave.

The cave-in began at about 5:15 p. m. and before the last earth trembles were felt early today the earth had sunk two to two and a half feet.

James Tedesco, an officer of the Pagnotti Enterprises, operators of mine collieries which extend under this Luzerne county town of 18,000, said he understood that the anthracite vein under the afflicted area had not been operated since 1868.

Employes of his firm, he said, had been assigned to help occupants of damaged homes and to make temporary repairs wherever possible.

No Driving License, Scully Pays $10 Fine

John Scully of 43 Lucas avenue was arrested Friday on Washington avenue by Officer McGrane who charged him with operating a car without having a driver's license. This morning in police court Scully informed Judge Daniel Hoffman that he had never had a license. The judge imposed a fine of $10 which was paid.

Purdy Taken Ill

Stanley Purdy, 24 of 11 Post street, was taken suddenly ill while in the barber shop of Victor Rena at 37 East Strand on Friday afternoon. The police were notified and Officer George F. Bowers drove to the shop. Dr. Leon Gray was called and said that the man had been seized with a fainting spell and had fallen to the floor. As there was no one at the Purdy home, Dr. Gray took Purdy to the Kingston Hospital in a taxi.

Men-o'-War Hit Japs at 8 Miles

a hit on our first salvo. I could see fires start.

"The Jap fire started after we got off three salvos.

"I counted at least six and possibly eight Jap ships returning the fire.

"After firing several minutes, our ships saw two large explosions near Savo Island and silhouetted against them were two large ships, either heavy cruisers or battleships, about 12,000 to 14,000 yards away.

"This engagement lasted about ten minutes, I would judge. It was furious. Then we had about a five-minute lull. During the lull three Jap ships were reported on our starboard beam and suddenly the Japs illuminated us with searchlights. They were right on us. Their range was about 5,500 yards. One of our ships started firing almost as soon as the Jap searchlights showed up.

"Our salvo was still in the air en route to the Jap ship when the Jap searchlight on the leading ship went out.

"The Japs did not begin firing until 20 seconds after their illumination. This is slow.

"The leading Jap ship was enveloped in smoke. It billowed up in great volumes. I am of the opinion that it was a battleship because it had four searchlights on it.

"Our battery concentrated on the second Jap vessel, and her searchlights were knocked out. Smoke issued from her also. I believe she was a light cruiser.

"The enemy ceased firing. We fired several more salvos at her in the general direction of the smoke, but the engagement was finished. We ceased firing at 1:02 a. m., the engagement including a five minute comparative lull lasting 44 minutes.

"During the illumination of the second engagement, they hit us. The hits sounded like big chunks of hail dropping on a tin roof.

"We had a useless safe aboard which we could not open because the combination was lost. The Japs opened it for us with an eight-incher.

"The supposition that we caught the enemy by surprise I believe is correct.

"Our losses were about two per cent of our crew killed and three per cent injured.

"Our bag was one possible battleship or heavy cruiser; three heavy cruisers; at least two destroyers.

"The enemy knows we hit him well."

How to cut the cost of Heating Your Home

BY John Barclay
AMERICA'S HOME HEATING EXPERT

Clinkers and Their Elimination

It is a common saying "The Coal Clinkers." But this is not true. It is a physical impossibility to make coal clinker. It is the refuse in the coal that causes clinker trouble. The heat from the fire will cause this refuse to soften and fuse, and upon cooling will form a crust, commonly known as a clinker.

And yet with anthracite coal (hard coal), the small amount of impurities have such a high fusion temperature that in home heating, clinkers should never occur, but now and then we do have clinker trouble. However, the coal should not be blamed. Clinkers are actually "manufactured" by wrong methods of handling and improper firing.

It is the easiest thing in the world to cause a clinker to form. All one has to do is to mix red hot coals with the ash. How do we unconsciously mix red coals and ash? By pulling out a clinker that has already formed, through the fire door. By using a hooked end poker—always use a straight poker. By stirring the fire unnecessarily. By shaking the grates too vigorously. By using ashes for banking. By burning rubbish or garbage in the furnace.

Avoid doing the above things and you will never be bothered with clinkers. However, there are several other ways in which clinkers can be made to form.

They can be formed by burning a coal too small in size. This small size coal will pack so tightly that it is very difficult for the draft to pass through the fuel bed. Contrary to what many people believe the smaller size of hard coal does not burn fast. But this size coal packs more and consequently requires more air for combustion to penetrate through the fuel. The heat that is generated cannot be wiped away easily and the temperature may build up sufficiently to soften the impurity in the coal.

Clinkers can be made by "blasting." "Blasting" means improper control of air by dampers. Let us assume heat is wanted upstairs. The fire is probably shaken vigorously and the dampers open wide. When sufficient heat is obtained upstairs the fire is suddenly and completely checked. Thus a tremendous amount of heat is "bottled" up in the furnace and the fuel bed temperature immediately goes up in a hurry. If this temperature becomes high enough, the natural impurities in the coal will soften, then melt and run together and form what is known as a common clinker.

Here is what to do if you think a clinker has formed in your firebed. Take a straight edged poker and pierce the clinker. Be careful not to stir the fire. Open the drafts wide. The cold air will flow through the perforated mass, and when this cold air comes in contact with the red hot mass, it suddenly becomes chilled and will break up because of the sudden contraction which takes place.

This is sometimes called "burning out a clinker." Then nurse the fire back to normal with correct firing to its proper depth. Don't forget to reset the dampers before leaving the basement. Ask your fuel dealer for firing instruction and charts and eliminate this trouble. Proper handling of the equipment and the fuel will greatly minimize clinker formation. (23) exploits in the 1940 campaign against France.

Maj. Gen. Charles W. Ryder, who commands the American mobile units attached to the Anderson expedition, presumably was assigned quantities of tank destroyers as well as tanks, armored cars and artillery by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Possessing a strong frontal shield and packing an anti-aircraft gun in addition to its 105, the tank destroyer is designed, in the traditional phrase, to seek out, pursue and destroy the enemy.

The 105 gun, relatively new to the American army, has a diameter a half-inch larger than Hitler's 88s and greater hitting power.

Against the lack of side and top armor, the destroyer crew has greater visibility and maneuverability than tanks and less heat, noise and vibration.

The Tunisian battle arena is one which a retired British army officer Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, pointed out last January 11 must be taken and held by the allies. With Rommel then withdrawing a battered army westward, even as now, General Fuller declared in the Sunday pictorial of London:

"At the very least, Tunisia and its great naval base at Bizerte must be occupied by us and powerful air fields must be established there to command the waist of the Mediterranean."

This undoubtedly was among the operations which "were discussed in detail" by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt at the June conferences from which came the pledge that German strength would be diverted from the attack upon Soviet Russia.

Gunners, Pilots Smash Tokyo's Guadalcanal Raid

heavy losses, today's noon communique said.

After this diversion the Allies resumed their advance, moving in the same way that they have been since the enemy took a stand ten days ago within strongly prepared positions along the 12 miles of coast between Buna and Gona.

The carefully hidden machine-gun nests and mortar emplacements of the defenders are scouted out, softened by artillery or bombs, if possible, then overwhelmed by the swift thrust of jungle fighters skilled in use of grenades, rifles, pistols and light machine-guns. Usually it is necessary to kill all the Japanese in the position.

Then the operation starts all over again on the next strongpoint.

The communique said Allied airplanes continued to aid the ground troops all they could by repeated heavy strafing and bombing of the Japanese lines.

(Fierceness of the fighting was apparent in a Sydney war correspondent's dispatches describing an engagement early this week. Two Australian imperial companies killed 150 Japanese but lost 66 of their own number in taking an enemy gun which had been holding up the Allied advance near Soputa a few miles from Buna, he said.)

Elsewhere in the southwestern Pacific theatre, Allied medium bombers attacked and destroyed enemy-occupied buildings at Nova Lisa and Beco on the island of Timor and an enemy submarine was bombed at night with unobserved results in the Gulf of Huon off the New Guinea coast.

Allies Advance 12 Miles From Tunis

mand declared flatly that Red army assaults in the same area had "collapsed."

A German communique also admitted heavy fighting was in progress in the Moscow front, where the Russians apparently have launched another big-scale offensive. Soviet attacks were centering around the big German base at Rzhev, 135 miles northwest of Moscow, and near Toropets, 240 miles northwest of the capital.

Dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said not a single German remained on the west bank of the Don in the flaming battle cauldron west of Stalingrad as the Russians attacked from the rear and herded them back eastward.

Front-line reports said the Russians scored new gains northwest and southwest of the Volga metropolis despite German reinforcements and a heavy snow that shrouded the frozen Steppes.

Stalingrad's long-besieged garrison itself was slowly driving the Nazis back toward the Red bayonets thrusting in from the west, killing 700 Germans at one point and 300 at another.

Axis casualties in killed and captured in the Red army's spectacular nine-day-old offensive passed the 118,000 mark, it was reported, and additional hundreds of Nazi prisoners were streaming dismally to the rear.

British military quarters said a large Axis army undoubtedly was surrounded in a pocket south of Kalach, 40 miles west of Stalingrad, and declared that the magnitude of the German disaster should be clear within the next three or four days.

In the Volga citadel's northside factory district, where the Germans had hoped to find shelter against the bitter Russian winter, Soviet troops were reported to have swept the invaders from 20 blockhouses in a 450-yard advance and sent the Nazis fleeing out of several buildings.

In the Libyan front, British headquarters for the second day tersely announced "nothing to report" as Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's Eighth Army maneuvered for a possible decisive attack on the German Africa Corps at El Agheila, a narrow defile between marshy quicksands and the sea.

Divorce Is Granted

Alice Benton of Saugerties has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband, Raymond Russell Benton, following trial of the action before Justice Harry E. Schirick in special term of Supreme Court on November 25. Arthur B. Ewig of Cashin & Ewig appeared for the plaintiff. Married at Kingston on December 24, 1914, the plaintiff alleges acts in the town of Saugerties in September of this year, upon which to base her complaint.

Farewell Gifts Are Appreciated

Kingston Inductee Finds His Is Generous City

That the farewell gifts presented to the inductees into the U. S. Army from Kingston as they leave for training camp are appreciated, is shown in the following letter written by Pvt. Henry S. Van DerZee, now at Camp Upton, to Mayor William F. Edelmuth.

The letter reads as follows: "I am just dropping you a line to let you know how greatly the efforts of you and your committee are appreciated by the men who are entering the service of their country.

"It is true that we, in Kingston, have become so used to that sort of thing that we never remark about it any more, but since coming to Camp Upton I have met men from several of the other cities in our state, and none of them have been treated by the citizens and mayors of their city as we have been. So often we who are grateful are negligent about expressing our gratitude, but I am sure that your desk has been flooded with notes of thanks.

"This is a real 'Man's City.' Women on the streets are a curiosity, especially since civilian visitors have been banned from the post. While we do work hard, we find that the life is very invigorating, and we are doing even the most unpleasant tasks with a will so that we may the sooner get home and be with all our friends again.

"Knowing that the greatest battles of any war are fought and won by those who stay at home, and appreciating greatly their kindnesses and quiet bravery, I am, proudly, their grateful servant and yours."

MODESTY WINS NEW TIRE

Eleven motorists applied to the tire board of the Springfontein, South Africa, district and each wanted one tire. But 10 of the 11 applied for two tires, thinking thereby to insure obtaining the one they desired. The board had only one tire. Ruling that it was impossible to satisfy the needs of an applicant for two tires with one tire, it awarded the lone tire to the lone applicant for one tire.

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—Mild irregularity persisted in today's brief stock market, with peace favorites still given a slight edge over issues in the armament classification.

While the good war news from all directions remained as a bolstering influence for many leaders, buyers exhibited considerable week-end timidity. Tax selling again was a factor. Some who registered profits or losses for income statements were understood to have switched to other stocks but many inclined toward a cash position pending more definite clues regarding trends.

Dealings were slow from the start and, near the final hour, negligible minus signs were in the majority.

Eastern Air Lines made a new 1942 top by ⅛ and United Air Lines was up as much. The latter was aided by a pleasing earnings summary. Small advances were shown by Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Standard Oil (N. J.), General Motors and International Harvester. Lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Anaconda, Westinghouse and Allied Chemical.

Bonds were mixed and commodities narrow.

Freezing Temperatures

Following the three days of steady rainfall earlier in the week the temperature suddenly dropped last night, and this morning the city was in the grip of freezing temperatures with thermometers in various sections of the city recording as low as 20 degrees at 6 o'clock this morning. The city hall thermometer recorded a low of 29 degrees. On Friday temperatures in Kingston ranged from 32 to 49 degrees, and last night the mercury began dropping steadily.

Kingston Veterans Annual Meeting

Discuss Placing Plants on Veterans' Graves, Other Matters

The matter of dispensing with the placing of potted plants on the individual graves of service men each Memorial Day was under discussion at the annual meeting of the Kingston Veterans' Association held at city hall last evening. This matter has been up for discussion at previous meetings when a suggestion was made that the association erect in each cemetery a monument of modest size in memory of all veterans buried in the cemetery and then on Memorial Day hold their services and decorate the monument to the memory of all service men buried in the cemetery.

After a discussion of this plan the delegates of the individual organizations represented in the Association were asked to get a vote of the sentiment of their organization on the proposition and report back at a future meeting.

Harry R. Karnaghan, county service officer, was re-elected chairman of the Association and James M. Krom of the Sons of Union Veterans, was named secretary-treasurer. Edward J. Wortman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was named vice-chairman in place of Roswell Coles of the United Spanish War Veterans.

The association, which is made up of representatives of all veteran organizations and allied organizations of the city, named Edward J. Wortman and Roswell Coles to the executive committee along with Frank Stopski of the Co. M. Veterans' Association, Thomas Reynolds of the American Legion and Harry Kingsburg, representing the Sons of the Legion.

A tentative budget of $1,175 was adopted for Memorial Day observance in 1943 and since the holiday falls on Sunday, it was voted to hold all exercises that day, with the parade in the afternoon.

Provinces Are in Turmoil

London, Nov. 28 (AP)—Netherlands coastal provinces are in turmoil as German authorities enforce a decree for withdrawal of civilians to the interior before November 30 as a safeguard against invasion, Aneta reported today. The Netherlands Indies News Agency said that "despite Nazi orders to leave everything, x x x people go through the streets pushing handcarts loaded with their most precious possessions x x x."

Serving as Bombardier

Solomon Werlin, who was a pharmacist and assistant manager in the Whelan store when he enlisted in the U. S. Army, is now in England, according to a letter recently received by a friend in Kingston. Sol was originally in the Medical Corps, but that branch of service did not appeal to him and he transferred to the Air Corps and is reported serving as a bombardier.

Mexican workers are charged with showing favoritism to Allied nations in their strikes, making greater demands on others, including Mexican employers.

Home Defense

Second Ward

An additional supply of V stickers has been secured and all wardens of the ward who are in need of more are asked to call at the A. H. Wicks engine house or 223 Smith avenue. Wardens are asked to complete their canvass as soon as possible.

Silk Stockings Should Be Saved but Not Lingerie

Inquiries have come from many people asking the state salvage committee whether silk lingerie can be used in connection with the salvaging of women's silk and nylon hosiery. Because of the method of manufacture, silk lingerie cannot be used. The process for salvaging stockings, which are knitted, cannot be applied to woven stitch. Silk and rayon stockings are sent to a reclaiming plant where the rayon or cotton tops and feet are cut off and the silk portion is processed and used for powder bags by the armed forces. Silk burns instantly and leaves no ask residue in the guns. Silk stockings should be washed thoroughly and turned in to the government in 100 pound lots. No remunerations is involved and the campaign is purely voluntary and patriotic.

For increasing the wages of her employe, Mrs. M. K. Broderick-Flynn, who runs a bakery in Athlone, Eire, was arrested and placed on probation after paying $5 costs.
